QORs Shine as Sun Sets

Sunset ceremony last evening drew more spectators than ever before. Weather was perfect and changing of the guard by the Queen's Own Rifles, 2nd Battalion, was a novel feature for most of the crowd. The battalion was making its first public appearance since moving into Gordon Head camp two months ago after a year in Korea. (See story Page 13.)

Commission Held In Contempt By Tabloid, Reporter—Tupper

Possible Penalty: Fine or Prison

By DAVID ROWNTREE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Reginald H. Tupper said Thursday his royal commission into Vancouver's police force had been held in contempt by the Toronto tabloid Flash and its local reporter Ray Munro.

"Although it may not do me or my commission any particular good it is my responsibility to consider a fine or imprisonment."

Mr. Tupper said he did not want to consider the matter lightly.

"I cannot promise an early decision."

Mr. Tupper earlier refused a submission by T. G. Norris and G. S. Cummings, counsel for police chief Walter Mulligan, to make an order for commital against Munro, Louis Ruby of John Blunt Publications and editor Howard Somerville, alias Peter Dunsmuir.

Neil Fleischman, lawyer for Munro, said his client was prepared to accept any penalty and stand by his principles.

He said Munro resigned from Flash, effective next Monday, partly because of an editorial which appeared in the July 23 issue after the commission hearings had started. It was following the publication of this article that Mr. Norris last week made the contempt motion.

Mr. Fleischman said Munro had not written articles for Flash since the hearings began July 13.

G. L. Murray, appearing for Vancouver Magazine Service Ltd., distributors of Flash here, submitted Mr. Tupper had no jurisdiction to rule on contempt other than breaches committed in the courtroom. He said an alternative submission was that the Public Inquiries Act was ultra vires of the provincial legislature.

Mr. Cummings said Mr. Norris had "done nothing more than draw the contempt to your attention."

He said the commissioner had the powers of a Supreme Court judge and could take steps "on your own discretion."

Flinging down a July 23 issue of Flash, Mr. Cummings said it contained a by-lined story by Munro.

The commissioner, in refusing Mr. Norris's motion, upheld Mr. Fleischman's submission that no written notice had been served to the persons concerned, that it had not been proved they were involved and that no charges were stated.

Willis Chitty, Toronto lawyer for Flash, apologized by telegram and telephone to Mr. Tupper last week. Mr. Chitty promised that no other comment on the hearings would appear in the tabloid and Mr. Tupper said Thursday his word "is better than any fine."

Earlier Thursday, Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert ended six days of evidence and cross-examination and left the witness box with this warning from Mr. Tupper:

"I can't help feeling you do know and could tell me the names of men on your squad to whom you gave money. I want you to think it over, and if I am correct in my assumption, I hope you will communicate with your counsel."

Mr. Tupper told the 54-year-old officer who claimed he had shared bribes from bookmakers with Mulligan his refusal to give names of other officers to whom h gave money "causes me some concern."

During three days' cross-examination this week, Cuthbert said time and again he could not, "with any degree of certainty," name the officers on the gambling detail who shared the payoffs.

Earlier this week, Mr. Tupper told Cuthbert his oath required him to speak the whole truth "or I can pay very little attention to what you tell me." Mr. Tupper said it was foolish or wrong to think it was loyal to other officers not to give their names.

Young Golfers Lead Large Field

Happy Marlene Stewart smiles after smashing par with a record 75 in the first day's play in the Canadian women's close tournament at Royal Colwood. The fine round gave her a four-stroke lead in a large field.

Happy also was Rae Milligan who came in with the second best score of 79, as nine days of outstanding women's golf opened here. For further pictures, stories, full results and draws, see the sports section, pages 8 and 9.

Rapid Economy Expansion Causing Inflation Fears

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian economy is expanding at such a pace that some federal officials now are becoming concerned over the possibility of another round of inflation gripping the country.

At the moment the situation is not considered serious. Federal authorities said Thursday that although Britain, the United States and a number of other countries have taken steps to curb inflationary trends, no similar action is being contemplated by Canada at the present time.

However, Canadian policy-makers are watching the situation closely. The economy has been expanding at an ever-increasing pace following its recovery from the 1954 recession.

The government generally has been following a policy of making it easier for Canadians to borrow money and buy goods on more generous credit terms. Interest rates have been reduced and taxes have been cut slightly.

Now the economy is expanding at a record pace. Bank loans are at or near a record high. Some scarcities in metals have developed and prices have increased. Indications now are the gross national product—value of all goods and services produced—will rise this year to a record of more than $25,000,000,000 compared with last year's $24,000,000,000.

Capital investment for 1955 has been forecast a peak $5,954,000,000. Exports have increased substantially.

All this activity places pressures on the supply of materials and labor. Many unions have made demands for higher wages, which may bring higher prices.

U.S. To Fight Robeson Tours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Robeson's efforts to force the state department to grant him a passport will be fought by the government, a state department spokesman disclosed Thursday night.

The passport of the baritone was lifted in 1950 on the ground that his travel abroad would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States.

The singer called at the department in mid-July to demand immediate issuance of a passport for a singing-acting tour of European, Middle Eastern and Far Eastern countries including Russia.

He made the demand in view of court decisions recently which have overturned previous state department refusals to issue passports to Americans who want to go abroad.

Robeson subsequently got permission to leave for a Canadian singing engagement but the department continued to bar him from travelling anywhere else in the world.

Licence Opposed

Questioning Cuthbert Wednesday, Mr. Norris produced a letter to show the chief constable opposed an application in 1949 to transfer a sporting club licence to the Dodson Hotel. Cuthbert earlier told how gambler Pete Wallace agreed to pay protection and run a bookmaking venture at the back of the proposed clubrooms.

Thursday, commission council J. G. A. Hutcheson asked why Cuthbert had opposed the application, on the chief's instructions, when it was considered by city council.

"It was opposed on principle."

"It would be the usual step to follow, then?" asked Mr. Hutcheson.

"Yes, I think it was general policy to oppose these applications so that the city council could look into them."

Cuthbert agreed he said it would "be dynamite" to grant the transfer because there were too many clubs operating in the area.

The officer said city council finally approved the application but it was later disapproved by the government Liquor Control Board in Victoria because the club would be too close to the hotel's licensed premises.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced yesterday the cost of the Vancouver police department inquiry—estimated at $15,000—will be paid by the provincial government.

Bonner said that under the public inquiries act, the government was responsible for all costs of a royal commissioner, his counsel, the commission secretary, court stenographers and other personnel.

Chalk River Atomic Pile

New Canadian Reactor To Be Finest in World

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new experimental atomic energy reactor at Chalk River, Ont., will be five times as powerful as the famed NRX atomic pile, it was disclosed Thursday.

The $40,000,000 reactor, known by the code name NRU, will have a power of 200,000 kilowatts when it goes into operation in June, 1956. NRX, built in 1947 and now shut down for repairs after its second most serious accident, develops 40,000 kilowatts.

The power at which NRU will operate was disclosed in a booklet published by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., crown company in charge of atomic research at Chalk River. The booklet, outlining atomic research in this country, was prepared for distribution at the international conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy in Geneva August 8-10.

It said the new reactor, essentially a research tool to probe the mysteries of the atom, will "be the finest nuclear engineering test facility in existence." It would enable scientists to perform tests, particularly in the field of electricity — producing atomic power plants, that cannot be duplicated by reactors in any other friendly country.

Trade Minister Howe told the Commons July 15 that Canada already has been called on to do many new-type experiments for the United Kingdom and the United States on the NRU reactor.

The 11,000,000 NRX reactor broke down July 25 when a special fuel rod contaminated the pile's supply of heavy water.

Government officials said the breakdown is not serious and is in no way comparable to a major accident in December, 1952.

Prominent Men Missing

Ten Aircraft Poised For Kitimat Search

Nine planes, a helicopter, and sea and ground parties will search the rugged mountain region between Kemano and Kitimat for the Pacific Western Airlines' Grumman Mallard amphibian which disappeared Wednesday with five men aboard.

Passengers on the craft were Col. Macgregor Macintosh, 58, formerly of Victoria but now of West Vancouver, industrial relations consultant and twice Conservative MLA for the Islands;

David Milton Owen, 42, deputy chairman of the Vancouver school board and partner in the law firm headed by Defence Minister Campney;

Albert Patrick Gorman, 43, assistant manager of the Saguenay-Kitimat Company.

RCAF search and rescue officials told the Colonist late last night they would have three amphibious Cansos and one Dakota leaving Vancouver at 6 a.m. today to join their pontoon-equipped Otter in a systematic square search of the area. PWA already has four aircraft and a helicopter combing the area from low altitudes.

Child Injured In Wharf Fall

Stuart Swan, 2½, fell 22 feet to the ground from the gangplank of the Princess Marguerite at the CPR wharf yesterday afternoon.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where early this morning his condition was said to be satisfactory.

The child is believed to have slipped through the rails of the gangplank while his mother, walking behind, turned to see if her husband was following.

His parents, Rev. and Mrs. Carl Swan, are from Ontario. They are holidaying here with Mrs. R. D. Simpson, 639 Hampshire.

Waves Won Says Shirley; Financial Reward Assured

TORONTO (CP)—"I just couldn't swim against those waves," 19-year-old Shirley Campbell of Toronto and Fergus said Thursday a few hours after her attempt to swim Lake Ontario ended in failure and heartbreak.

The end came in early-morning darkness less than two miles from the Toronto shoreline and 21 hours and 27 minutes after she had struck out from the mouth of the Niagara river in a surprise bid to beat Marilyn Bell's lake swim record of 20 hours and 56 minutes.

Shirley is assured of at least financial reward for her attempt. Toronto citizens and business men telephoned newspaper offices and radio stations Wednesday night offering gifts of money and merchandise for Shirley.

Offers included a television set, jewelry and accessories, a year's supply of milk, a dress, mattresses, a car radio, life-size portrait, sportswear outfit, mink collar and cuffs.

There will be more for the girl who has been swimming, and winning, since she was six and who kept her lake plunge a secret.

Sonny Tufts Sued As Thigh Pincher

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actor Sonny Tufts, twice accused in lawsuits by dancers of biting them on the thigh, was charged yesterday in a $10,000 damage suit with pinching a 22-year-old woman on the "upper thigh."

Mrs. Adriene Forman, 22, of North Hollywood, Calif., accused Tufts of beating her in a Studio City, Calif., restaurant July 27. Her attorneys said the actor sat down uninvited at her table and "began to annoy her."

Tufts brought his meal over to the table despite Mrs. Forman's protests, the attorneys said. One said the actor then "ran his hand up her leg and pinched her on the upper thigh."

The woman screamed, said the attorney, and ordered Tufts to go away.

Tufts finally left the table after Mrs. Forman's mother came to her aid, he said.

Last January 17, a superior judge approved a $600 out-of-court settlement paid by Tufts to Margarie Von, 19, a Long Beach dancer. She had sued for $26,000 damages on grounds that the actor bit her on the thigh on February 20, 1951, while aboard a yacht during filming of a picture.

It's King-Size!

B.C. Penguin Lays An Historic Egg

VANCOUVER (CP) — First King penguin egg to be laid in North America arrived Wednesday night at Stanley Park Zoo.

Zoo keeper Allan Best discovered the rare egg, which he believes is the third ever produced in captivity, as he made a final round of the zoo with the watchman at 10 p.m.

"A courtship had been going on for quite a while," said Mr. Best. "I had rubber mats put on the concrete floors of the penguins' shelter so that an egg would not break when laid."

Penguins do not make nests of any kind, said Mr. Best. And the male does most of the work during the 64 days of incubation.

The egg itself is about four inches long and is nearly round, reports the jubilant zookeeper. The penguins incubate it by placing it between their feet and lowering a fringe of feathers around it "like a candle-snuffer."

There are seven King penguins in Stanley park, each valued at $500.

"It's going to be a long 64 days," sighed Allan Best, who has been hoping for such an event for many years.

Princess in Guise of Ghostly Swan Guards Lover's Grave from Intruders

TOBERMORY, Scotland (Reuters)—A swan, which superstitious islanders insist is the ghost of a Spanish princess mourning for her lover, has set up watch over the latest efforts to raise a goldladen galleon lying buried in sand off the coast here.

For 400 years, since the galleon was sunk off the Scottish coast the islanders say the princess, in one form or another, has appeared whenever attempts were made to salvage the vessel.

The ship, part of the defeated Spanish armada of 1588, was blown up after it put in here for provisions before trying to make its way back to Spain. Aboard the ship was the princess's lover, an English nobleman, and, say the natives, the princess is fretful lest salvagers disturb his resting place.

The huge white swan appeared on the scene after the current salvage expedition led by the Duke of Argyll brought up a cased timber from the ancient ship.

The swan, they say, appeared out of nowhere one evening, glided serenely over the bay and disappeared, no one knows where. It reappeared the following night and has turned up every night since.

Meanwhile, the Duke of Argyll and a team of salvage experts are searching for the sunken ship Duque di Florencia, which old records say carried "$30,000,000 in cash" and a crown Philip II of Spain intended to use if his plans for a coronation in Britain's Westminster Abbey were realized.

For several years the duke has made the search for the ship his expensive hobby. Now he is reported ready to keep his frogmen, power shovel, dredges and small ships at work until October.

Under a royal charter, he has full claim to the treasure, less one per cent for the crown. In the past two of his ancestors were executed by the king after refusing to surrender their rights to the treasure. The present duke wants to find the galleon so that he can turn over what he finds to museums.

Until the reported find of the cased timber, all that the vessel has yielded has been a brass cannon forged by Italian craftsman Benevenuto Cellini, a silver salver and odds and ends.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE circus is 50 per cent fraud, 50 per cent talent and 100 per cent magic. That makes 200, which is circus figuring. They add up their prices the same way.

The boys at the circus charge $1.25 for a kewpie doll that costs about a dime wholesale. Unless you watch out, they'll fast talk you into paying a dollar too much for admission.

The circus doesn't come to town very often, and they know that few people will argue about money, especially in front of the children. Such is the charm of the big show that you hand them a wad of bills and shuffle into the tent like a man under hypnosis.

Once inside, you have the time of your life, and never grudge a nickel of it.

* * *

The circus is a city on wheels that moves around the country at vast expense with its population of men and beasts and many tons of machinery, canvas, ropes, sledge-hammers, musical instruments, spangles and falsies.

It takes root briefly in a town, enchants thousands of people with blare and glitter, and disappears again as if it had never existed, leaving only a few shreds of sawdust and paper cups.

Circus people live in their own world. Few of them trouble to conceal their contempt for the local people, whom they regard as rubes and hayseeds.

The local people respond by looking up to them as tinsel gods.

* * *

The yokels let themselves be overcharged and insulted, and they love it. They come next year for more.

The circus appeals to all that is disorderly and romantic in a dull person living his life in one place. It seems to be a survival from an older, lustier age of wandering minstrels and acrobats—the age of the open market-place.

In the people of the circus, who mix gaudy showmanship with high skill and courage, part mountebank and part hero, all struggling for fortune and applause, ready at times to elbow a fellow-performer in the small of the back and yet working most of the time for the common good of the show—the plain yokel of the veryday world sees an image of himself as he might have been.

And he wishes good luck to that wonderful crowd of tough circus people who can make a child sit still for two and one-hours, gazing in silent wonder.

Parenthood without Hokum

Being Pal Not Enough: Child Needs Control

BY HOWARD WHITMAN

Part 8

The father of a child who was a critical behaviour problem complained to a probation worker in Los Angeles, "I just don't ununderstand it. I've been a pal, a real buddy, to my boy."

"You may have been a pal and buddy," the probation worker replied. "But have you been a parent? Don't forget a child needs that, too."

This I found a common pattern throughout the country. Children need pals, certainly (that's why they have playmates), but children need a mother and father who are not afraid to be parents.

At the Family Service Organizatino of Louisville, Ky., Director Esther Taylor commented, "One of our greatest problems today is to get children to accept love and authority from the same source." Because parents have been plied with the notion that they had to be "buddies" and because "authority" has been as naughty a word as "discipline in the lexicon of some of our latter-day experts, we have a generation of children who have largely been deprived of parental leadership and strength.

We have produced a good many wishy-washy parents and an outsized crop of child tyrants.

A therapist at the Child Psychiatric Clinic of the Evanston, Ill., Hospital reported, "We have quite a problem with parents who are too long-suffering. They let the child get so bad that he is really unlikeable. We have to help them to be more strict, reasonably so, that is—to be more like parents."

A case worker at the Washington Institute of Mental Hygiene added "Some parents treat the child as though he were the authority in the home. They react to his every whim, soon giving the child the idea that he is dictator."

Child dictatorship is just about as bad as any other kind. Our juvenile court judges and our youth bureaus have seen the odious results of it. They have seen parents reduced to flaccid ineffectiveness. In Detroit Juvenile Court, Judge Nathan Kaufman declared:

It is shocking to see parents surrender to their own children. But that is what many of them do. They give up. I've had parents whose youngsters 14 and 15 years old go out on drinking parties in the woods until 2 and 3 in the morning, and the parents come in and say, 'We can't do a thing about it. We just can't handle them.'"

Judge Kaufman added, "That is what happens when the child becomes boss of the home. Once the child is boss, the home is lost."

Sergeant George Simmons, of the Police Youth Bureau in Ann Arbor, Mich., reported, "We have parents come here and push their youngsters through the door and say, 'Here, you handle them. We can't do anything with them.'" To this Simmons' reaction is, "They have had 10 or 15 years to civilize their children and they have failed. Now they expect me to do it in 10 or 15 minutes."

I've found little respect among today's psychiatrists and guidance personnel for the parent who allows his children to walk over him. To summarize the reactions I have found: "A parent who lets his child make a fool of him is a fool."

But there is more to the story. This is no mere matter of rescuing parents who have bogged down in their own ineptitude. It is a matter of rescuing children. Wishy-washy parents deprive children of one of their prime developmental needs. They need the vitamin of parental authority as much as any vitamin in their diets. And today's new trend in child-care is to see that they get it.

This is not to say that the "authoritarian" parent has come back into vogue; far from it. Authoritarianism is the abuse of autority. The parent who uses authority properly does so with love," understanding, and fair play. In the well-run family the parent can be boss without being bossy.

"Children feel safer when their parents have strength and authority," declared Director Elizabeth Porter of the Family Service Society of New Orleans. "Our cases constantly show us that the child is disappointed when his parents show a lack of authority. His need for parental leadership is shown in the way the child himself invests his parents with authority. He is proud of his father's strength and his mother's wisdom. He wants these qualities to provide a strong home in which he can be safe."

I met with a group of teen-age youngsters in Lincoln Park, Mich., just sout of Detroit, and discussed this with them. Their remarks were revealing:

"The trouble today is your Ma says you can't do something and the next minute she changes her mind and lets you do it," one boy said.

"Gosh, no kid can look up to a father whose got a lot of mush where his backbone should be," another chimed in.

A grinning realist among them added, "If they let us walk all over 'em we're going to. Why shouldn't we?"

The only boy who seemed to feel he had something to boast about was the one who said, "Well, you guys aren't talking about my Pa. When he says something he means it!"

Talk to children anywhere and you will quickly discover that though they may enjoy wrapping their parents around their little fingers—if they can get away with it—still in their hearts they yearn for parents who are strong and stable. They are the first to condemn parents who are too weak to rear their own children.

Why do so many parents abdicate their own authority? I put the question to Director Samuel Whitman of the Cleveland Mental Health Association. He replied, "Because the exercise of authority takes work. It takes responsibility, and it takes strain. To build parental authority upon a base of affection, a parent must make a real effort."

Others pointed out that to exercise authority requires confidence, and lack of confidence seems to be a parental disease these days. Undoubtedly some of the confidence has been shaken by the experts themselves, who in recent years have too often rung the gong for soft parenthood. They have not wanted parents to expect too much or demand too much of their children.

In its coming of age, child psychology today is less prone to cast away the tested wisdom of all time and more prone to use it as a base on which to build. One psychologist, in making a point, puoted the Bible to me (Proverbs 22:6)—"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

Gadgets Prove Fascinating

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I was ribbing my neighbor, Ernie, the other day in this column over his incurable passion for motorized garden equipment. On sober reflection, however, I have to admit that I am suffering from a touch of Garden Gadgetitus myself.

I don't go so much for the motorized equipment, chiefly because the depleted state of the Chestnut bank account won't run to such expensive items, but any new mechanical device or chemical compound possesses an incurable fascination for me. So much so that I find myself walking three blocks out of my way during my lunich hour to see what's new in the garden department of a certain downtown store.

SOME IMPRACTICAL

I admit a lot of the gadgets which have seduced me have turned out to be impractical penny-catching novelties, but there are a few which have proved to be worth their weight in gold.

One of these is the bottle-type sprayer which works off the hose. You simply fill the bottle with insecticide or fungicide or weed-killer, connect it to the hose, turn on the water and get down to business.

It produces a fine, misty spray without any laborious pumping at all, and it mixes the bug-killer or 2-4-D in correct proportion with the water, and has proved most effective for me.

I have two such bottle sprayers—one which makes a rather coarse spray of droplets, which I use for applying liquid fertilizer to the lawn and flower beds, and one which creates a very fine mist, more suitable for insect and disease control.

Another gadget which I wouldn't like to get along without is the Ross root feeder. This is a hollow, sharp-pointed spear which connects to the hose to carry water deep down under the roots of a shrub or plant. Moreover, there is a chamber provided in the handle where you can insert a nutrient cartridge, thereby providing food as well as water.

I have had my most spectacular results in feeding the roots of my fruit trees with this underground watering and feeding device, and on the rhododendrons and camellias, using a special acid nutrient cartridge provided for these acid-loving plants.

I got my root feeder through Howard Curling, the B.C. boxing commissioner, who is introducing this most useful garden tool to the dealers here.

AWKWARD DRENCHING

One garden gadget which has rather disappointed me is the plastic hose with all those little pinholes in it. The idea and general design seems to be wonderful, but I can't get the hang of positioning this watering device so the spray is going where I want it without getting myself drenched to the skin in the process.

Of all my collection of lawn sprinklers, the one I like the best was bought at the five-and-ten for 29c. There isn't much to it—it is only a little brass cap for the hose with a lot of very fine holes in it, and a spike to push into the lawn but it works marvellously even when the pressure is low, producing a fine, misty spray which drifts all over the garden. I have three of these, which I have taped on to tall stakes to keep them high and give them greater coverage.

Explosives Ship Caught Fire; Bang Went Another Adventure

Capt. Alex McDonald and model of his first ship, City of Delhi.

By CLARE MORIN

The little freighter Oscar left Telegraph bay bound for Britannia Mines with a cargo of 2,000 cases of high explosives.

Off Nanaimo she caught fire.

"I ran her ashore on Protection island and got her seven-man crew off. I was the last to leave," her skipper, Master Mariner Alex. McDonald, 690 Dallas, explained.

"About 15 minutes after we left she was blown to smithereens," he added. "That was in 1913."

It was his second brush with disaster. In the middle of winter, 1904, he narrowly missed being shipwrecked on a rocky crag just west of Cape Horn.

"We were on the steamer Aotea bound from London for Wellington with passengers and general cargo," he said. "We hadn't seen the sun for about a week, had no sights for longtitude and were running on dead reckoning.

"With a heavy gale and the sea running," he explained, "we were doing about 15 knots, when suddenly the lookout reported an iceberg ahead. I was on the bridge and saw it at the same time. It wasn't an iceberg. It was a rock covered with snow.

JUST MADE IT

"I hauled her off and just made it. I thought the stern would hit," he said.

"Here, I'll show you," and the spry 80-year-old captain left the room to return with a chart of the area. It had been printed in the late 1870s in London "according to the latest information" and carried a note of warning to shipwrecked sailors. Mariners, that is, clear of the natives of the area because they weren't to be trusted.

The skipper, who went to sea at the age of eight in his father's ship, traced the course of the Aotea and pointed out the rock.

He explained he had been round the Horn 26 times.

"Once," he said, pointing to the tip of Staten Island off Tierra Del Fuego, the southernmost tip of South America, "we were in the same spot five consecutive Sundays. That was when I was on the City of Delhi" He explained that each time the ship got on its westward course, it was blown back by Pacific winds.

Pointing to a beautiful model standing majestically in a glass case in his living room, he said, "That's her. I built the model about 20 years ago."

She was the ship he first sailed in as an apprentice in 1890.

Four years later he received his second mate's papers and in 1899 his master's papers.

"But I spent two-and-a-half years on a voyage with the Ardencraig as second mate, with a master's ticket, for £4.10 a month. You had to take it then!" he said.

"After that I spent six years running from London to New Zealand," he said.

He remembers vividly his first voyage on the City of Corinth with his father in 1883.

"We made an uneventful passage from London to Sidney where we unloaded our passengers and freight. At Newcastle we loaded black diamond for Rangoon Burma. On our way there," he said, "we passed through the aftermath of the terrific explosion of the volcano Krakatoa. They believe she opened up under the sea. The whole island exploded. About 50,000 people died because of it, and the tidal waves it caused were recorded more than 7,000 miles away.

In Rangoon, he related, the river was full of ships, all sail, moored stem to stern.

"I'd watch dugout canoes coming down the river loaded with fruit and often beckon them to come alongside so I could buy bananas. One day I suppose I ate too many and that night I was packed ashore to hospital," he said. "They said it was yellow-fever, but they caught it quick and I soon recovered."

Capt. McDonald comes from a very old seafaring family. His great-granfather built and sailed two of his own ships. In 1829 he constructed the Felicity of Kincardine in which he traded to the East and West Indies. And in 1839 he built the William McDougall, named after himself. She was 171 tons.

His grandfather, Alex. McDougal, was master of the Ellen Baird a 500-ton barque, and his father James McDonald was likewise a master mariner.

'Summit' Meeting with Red Chinese 'Has Not Yet Entered My Thoughts'

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower Thursday ruled out for the foreseeable future any "summit meeting" with Red China in which he would participate.

He told a news conference it is too far in advance even to speculate on the possibility and that he is not even thinking about it now. He also said Nationalist China's interests would not be discussed in any meeting unless its representatives are present.

Eisenhower made the statements when asked whether there was any chance that current Geneva talks between U.S. and Red Chinese ambassadors might be followed by a conference at a higher level.

He recalled that State Secretary John Foster Dulles had [illegible] foreign ministers' meeting with Red China.

'JUST DIDN'T KNOW'

Eisenhower told a news conference last week that the current Geneva talks might possibly be followed by a foreign ministers' meeting if it turned out there was anything that might be settled by such discussion. But he said he just did not know.

The president discounted the possibility that U.S. diplomatic recognition of Red China might result from the current Geneva talks. He said the United States has no choice in its course toward Red China.

Apparently referring to both diplomatic recognition and a UN seat for Red China, Eisenhower said there is no indication of any change in U.S. opposition as a result of the Geneva talks.

Scientist Pictures Space Trips At Millions of Miles a Second

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Scientists were told Thursday they must not rule out the possibility of space ships someday whizzing among the stars at thousands of time the speed of light.

Since light travels about 186,000 miles a second, this concept would mean space ships speeding many millions of miles a second.

In an address dealing chiefly with artificial satellites that would maintain orbits around the earth, H. E. Canney, Jr., of the American Bel Aircraft Co., told the International Astronautical Federation's sixth congress.

"If space flight is really to mature, we must plan for it and not entirely rule out the possibility of speeds thousands of times faster than light at some time in the very distant, unforeseeable future."

Saying that presently-planned unmanned satellite vehicles represent "space flight in its infancy," researcher Canney, whose speech was prepared jointly with F. I. Ordway of Republic Aviation Co., asserted:

"No one of us here today entertains the slightest doubt that the problem of space flight will eventually be overcome. This is what you and I live for . . .

"The satellite vehicle in our present perspective is no small thing. It is the most important development since the invention of the wheel."

CIVILIZED USES BEST

Canney said suggestions have been made that an instrument-carrying satellite could be used effectively for military reconnaissance, but he added:

"A more civilized (reconnaissance) use of the vehicle would be the visual exploration of nearly inaccessible areas, such as polar areas, jungles, large deserts and mountain ranges. Iceberg patrol would be greatly simplified, and such a vehicle might well be used to locate crashed airplanes or derelict ships, or perhaps even lost expeditions."

Russian Ship Freed by Chiang

LONDON (Reuters)—Twenty-nine members of the crew of the 9,051-ton Soviet tanker Tuapse, freed after being detained by the Chinese Nationalists at Formosa since June, 1954, left Peiping in Communist China Thursday for the Soviet Union, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Fossil oysters, 30 inches in diameter, have been found along the lower Rio Grande valley.

Chief Detective Sent to Prison

OLYMPIA (UP)—The State Supreme Court yesterday ruled Adam Lyskoski, former chief of detectives for the King County sheriff's office, was guilty on four counts of asking and receiving a bribe in connection with the 1952 burglary of the Inglewood Golf and Country Club near Seattle.

A King County jury on August 7, 1954, found Lyskoski guilty of the four bribery charges, and acquitted him on six others. The jury found that Lyskoski was guilty of asking and receiving bribes of $1,000, $200 and $800 from Clyde Edwards, former Tacoma policeman, and a stove and water heater, two of the four principals in the March 7, 1952, burglary of the country club.

Lyskoski appealed to the Supreme Court, claiming [illegible] in King County Judge Howard M. Findley's instructions to the jury, and admission of "inadmissible evidence" such as wire recordings.

The high court overruled all of Lyskoski's charges of error.

The former detective drew a 10-year prison sentence for accepting the bribes. He had been free on bail pending the high court ruling.

Searchlight on the CBC

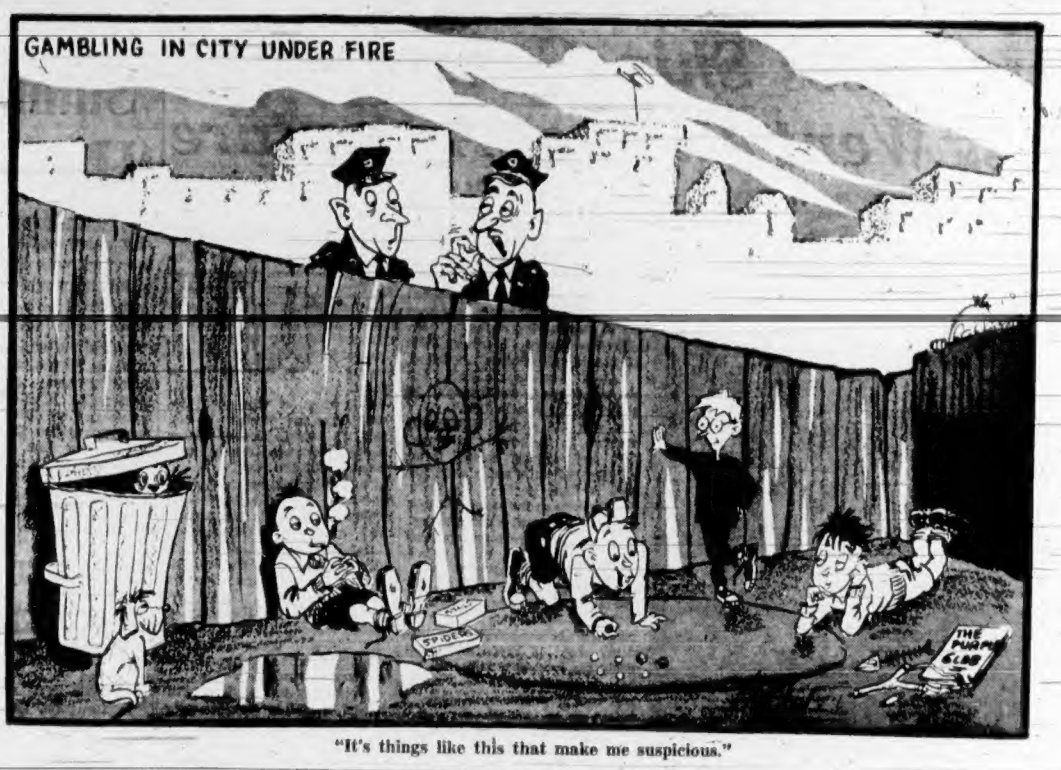

SOME time in the near future a royal commission appointed by the Dominion government will begin an examination of the status and operation of radio and television broadcasting in Canada. The terms of reference for the commission have not yet been made known, but its findings can have little real value if the inquiry does not cover all phases of the subject, particularly the powers of the CBC. This was recommended by one member of the Massey Commission some years ago, and not long ago the National Liberal Federation urged the government to transfer those powers to a separate tribunal.

Consideration of that advice has long been delayed by the government, and the fact that initial steps are now being taken suggests that the government has become sensitive to growing public dissatisfaction not so much with the service given by the CBC—which on the whole is of a high standard—as with the monopolistic jurisdiction which it has over all broadcasting in Canada.

The status of the CBC is uniquely undemocratic. It enjoys a degree of independence seldom granted to any offshoot of government, and in addition to nearly absolute powers in respect of its own productions it has full jurisdiction over all its privately-owned competitors. A comparable situation would be created if the B.C. Power Commission, which sells electric power to the public, were given outright authority over the B.C. Electric Company with the final say as to how and where the private company should produce power and the rates it should charge.

In this extraordinary set-up the CBC can hold onto all the best fields, leaving the pickings to its competitors. All along the CBC has exercised that power to the utmost. Its monopolistic control has been brought sharply into focus by the development of TV, and it may be this which has persuaded the government at last that it can no longer put off a full-scale inspection of the whole framework of broadcasting control.

As a producer of good entertainment there is a need for a publicly-owned organization like the CBC, but there its functions should end. It should not continue to stand in the triple role of prosecutor, pudge and jury in relation to its competitors. The solution to the present unsatisfactory jurisdictional situation would appear to lie in the appointment of a separate governmental body on lines similar to the transport board, which controls but does not operate. Even Prime Minister St. Laurent himself, as far back as 1949, conceded that there was "ground for serious consideration" in the suggestion that the CBC should confine itself to broadcasting and be divested of its regulatory powers.

"It's things like this that make me suspicious."

They Shoot Far Too Soon

COMMUNIST air forces may not be trigger-happy but it often seems that they are. Scarcely a month goes by without the report of some allied or neutral country aircraft being shot down because it ventured or strayed too close to forbidden territory. There must be many instances where the invasion of a preserved air space is obviously unintentional and in no case more so than when an airliner is involved. Anyone bent on aerial espionage does not cart a few score civilian passengers along with him. It is this aspect of the matter that is disturbing.

Airmen charged with the duty of protective patrol of their territorial boundaries doubtless have a ticklish task. Their job is to keep curious strangers away. Tension alone might cause them to fire first and think afterwards, but the frequency of such happenings suggests that their instructions are deliberately or loosely phrased. Certainly they are not tight enough to ensure that no bad bloomers are made. One is forced to the conclusion that Communist authorities are indifferent to the enormity of such offences and secure in the knowledge that no retaliation in kind will take place. And they go on taking advantage of this situation.

The case of the Israeli airliner shot down by Bulgarian fighter pilots with the loss of 58 lives is one of the most grievous of these incidents. Nationals of half-a-dozen nations, including Canada, were among the victims. To be sure bland regrets are now being officially expressed by the Bulgarian government, which says the fighter pilots were too hasty and did not take sufficient measures merely to force the plane to land unharmed. If they operated under more meticulous and humane orders perhaps there would be far fewer of these deplorable actions that cause needless loss of human life. One trusts this country has added its official protest in the kind of stinging and salutary language that is called for.

The Pace Is Swift

A GROUP of leading men of science, philosophy and education have gone into retreat at the Nova Scotia home of a Cleveland industrialist and the Ottawa Journal complains that MPs at Ottawa no longer flavor their speeches with literary allusion. The two happenings are not unrelated. The professors are guests given leisure time to sit and think; the MP's lack is the result of a similar need for leisurely reading and study. Taken together they reflect the tempo of today and the pressures that impinge on prominent individuals. On a lesser scale the same might be said of ordinary people.

We live not only in an age of speed and ever changing design but also amid a welter of paper. Documents, statistics, calculations, data of varying kinds, haunt all public men. MPs have more homework than ever before; so much more legislation to be analyzed, so many questions of greater complexity than formerly. They have scant time for the flowers of literature and their speeches make that very evident; grace has given way to utilitarian fact. Professors too, far from being absent-minded as alleged, have to sharpen their wits to keep abreast of the kaleidoscope that comprises modern life. They cannot seclude themselves as their predecessors did, in ivory towers.

Coupled with the sheer weight of official documents the reading trend as exemplified by digests, tabloids and "quickies" of various kinds is evidence of the changed habits of at least western man. He no longer feels he has leisure to enjoy reading merely for its own pleasure or enrichment but instead he reads strictly for information or to keep posted on what is going on. The pace is swift and he hurries to keep up with it. This may induce a greater awareness of all that is around him but conversely it limits the amount of individual and original thinking. It makes for superficiality, or at best a purely work-a-day fund of knowledge. Nothing much can be done about this even though wealthy industrialists provide a temporary haven for a chosen few, but the saving grace is that somehow man has always managed to suit himself to his environment and to the demands of his time.

Interpreting the News

The Status Quo—with Smiles

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

RUSSIA wants a period of co-existence for her own purposes without giving up one of her big political weapons—her ability to make a surprise attack.

Rejection by Premier Bulganin of President Eisenhower's proposal for an exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection to eliminate the possibilities of surprise attack was expected.

* * *

The Russians made it clear at Geneva that their sweetness and light campaign represents no change of basic policy, and they would do the things the world demands to achieve peace only when it furthers their own interests.

Bulganin keeps referring to the Russian plan for disarmament as though it, too, contains a specific inspection clause. The trouble with that is it would be set up under the Security Council of the United Nations, where Russia could veto every move which interfered with her activities or interests.

* * *

The rejection of the blueprint plan is made in the friendly tone recently adopted by the Russian leaders, with praise for Eisenhower's attempt even while disagreeing with him.

Bulganin attempts to make the point that the Eisenhower plan does not cover American military bases around the world, without mentioning Russia's own in the satellites. He skips the uses made of Red China in the Korean war which Russia sponsored.

* * *

To meet the world demand for deeds rather than words to prove her peaceful intent, Russia has produced two things.

She went through, 10 years late, with an Austrian treaty designed to start the ball rolling toward the period of relaxed tensions she now enjoys. She agreed to the Eisenhower atoms-for-peace plan from which she will get important technological benefits.

On the points in which the world is primarily interested, such as reunification of Germany and an end to the international Communist subversion campaign, she is unyielding and even defiant.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

VANCOUVER has its teething troubles as well as Victoria, assuming that's a correct enough term for a city more than half-a-century old, but at last its going to have a civic auditorium, or more properly a civic centre.

It will have, too, within its ensemble of halls and rooms, a little theatre capable of holding around 700 seats. Doubtless that news will cause sighs of envy among our own capable amateur thespians.

In fact the whole proposition should be enough to make this city sit up and take notice, if not indeed to say: "If Vancouver can do this, so can we."

As of course we could were the spirit really willing.

What's surprised me is that our own musical and dramatic groups haven't been vocal on the subject of late. I should have thought they'd have jumped smartly on the bandwagon when an auditorium for Victoria recently became a distinct possibility, via the capital city grant route or some variation of same.

* * *

At the moment the idea is hanging fire, or at least in a state of suspended animation, and one hopes it isn't wholly dead. The trouble with such proposals is that they tend to be cluttered with all kinds of irrelevancies, instead of the central idea being grasped firmly at all costs. A genius for entangling things in red tape isn't really a great civic asset, you know.

One thing though that perhaps dulls public enthusiasm is the false notion that an auditorium would in the main benefit only orchestral, dramatic and other artistic groups. In short, culture with a capital C.

Some people in some of these groups are to blame by the airs they put on, as though their pleasures were too esoteric and thereby too superior for plebian participation. The large and varied audiences at the Butchart symphony concerts puts such a notion to naught, but it persists.

A lot of ordinary folk are frightened of this thing that's called culture, not realizing they don't have to be. You don't need to come into this world grasping a fiddle or a chisel, for example, to enjoy music or sculpture when you grow up. It's a tragedy no other suitable term than this particular word has yet been coined.

* * *

Sure, the artistic groups would benefit by an auditorium, it would be a great boon for them, but that's only part of the story.

Actually an auditorium would encompass all sorts of activities. Bepop could have its place as well as Bach; any and every respectable show would be eligible; speakers, conventions, exhibitions, meetings, rehearsals—in fact the whole gamut of community life could share the conveniences that a civic centre would provide.

Once we had one the whole town would wonder how on earth we ever got along without it.

Vancouver's example should set our house afire or anyway agleam with new promise. They had a lot of arguments over there too—that's the democratic if exasperating way we all prefer to do things—but now the project is straightened out and a civic centre is in sight.

I am all for local amenities being primarily for local people, but you know if Vancouver gets an auditorium and we don't there's going to be a lot of outside patronage that goes their way and not ours. Lack of a civic centre here could hurt a lot of Victorians who might themselves never enter its doors.

But for ourselves alone we need one; can't we have it?

Letter from London

Guns With Nothing To Fire

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

THE Daily Colonist editorial of June 23 asking what was wrong with Canadian immigration overseas caused a flutter in the dovecote at immigration headquarters in London.

Needless to say there was no comment. No comment means no awkward memos from Ottawa, no blistering inquiries and, of course, fewer headaches. It is always one thing to say something, another to see it in cold print and another to justify it if it turned into political capital. So, as far as I am concerned, no names and no packdrill.

If you wander around the Canadian quarters of London, no matter whether Canada House, the Canadian government immigration service in Green Street or the various provincial agent-generals or even the Ontario government immigration service, it does not take very long to find the answer.

Canada has the guns to wage a vigorous immigration "war." What it lacks is ammunition. It has good troops in the field in the persons of immigration counsellors but they, too, lack ammunition. Publicity is either non-existant or poor. Canada is the poor relation of the immigration business. In the words of one shipping agent, "It is living on the immoral earnings of the travel trade."

* * *

The Canadian government immigration service has not one publicity man. Not even a part-time one. Australia has five. They feed newspapers with paragraphs and pictures and use plenty of advertising space. Canada has no advertising appropriation for migration. It does not even issue a poster of its own. It cannot have a line of printing done—except by the Queen's Printer in Ottawa. If an English newspaper wants an immigration picture it is told to try the CPR.

All this in face of considerable adverse publicity. English newspapers have featured stories of Canadian unemployment; migrants who have returned disgruntled tell tragic stories in the correspondence columns of newspapers. Once in a while they get an official denial—but half of them are not seen. The immigration department has not even got the funds to subscribe to a press cutting agency!

These are facts. The hard facts of life which the immigration department has to tolerate. But the guns are good. Canada has the best immigration set-up in London once the fish have been caught in the net. They are processed expeditiously. Medical examination and radiography are streamlined and counsellors are competent and straightforward in their advice—within the limits of government policy.

* * *

Australia wins hand down on publicity for imigrants; Australia offers an all-in migrant fare of the equivalent of $27 from anywhere within the United Kingdom to anywhere in Australia. Distances may vary by 5,000 miles, but the fare is the same. It encourages family migration all in the same ship. "Keep the family together" is their motto. It guarantees jobs to adult members of the family. It provides temporary hostel accommodation on arrival and full social security benefits are available from the moment of landing—even unemployment pay if there is a delay in getting started.

Canada has no migrant fare. The few assisted passages are available only as interest-free loans recoverable through employers over two years. The migrant is expected to pay a minimum fare of $164 for a passage to Montreal and nearly as much again if he wants to go to British Columbia. Official Canadian policy is to divide the family—father must go first, and mother and the children follow when father has a settled job and accommodation for the family. Only about one migrant in 100 goes to a guaranteed job. There is no guaranteed board and lodging on landing and no social security benefits are payable for at least 12 months, or earlier qualifying period.

The British migrant takes with him to Australia his right to medical care and hospitalization. If he goes to Canada and gets unexpectedly ill he may find himself in real trouble unless he has capital. True enough that by and large it gets the better type of migrant—the man with faith in himself, a determination to succeed and egged on by the Canadian standard of living—unquestionably higher than Australia.

* * *

It was a Canadian who said to me: "Canadian migration is selfish. It takes everything from the Canadian point of view. It does not consider the migrant as a person. No matter how much faith and guts he may have the financial arithmetic of $164 a head to Montreal against $27 to anywhere in Australia must affect his pocket-book. A family of six may travel up to 15,000 miles to the north of Queensland for the same outlay as one person travelling 3,000 miles to Montreal. Australia helps to settle him with temporary accommodation which doesn't use up all his capital on landing, a guaranteed job and should an emergency arise through unemployment, accident or sickness it looks after him. Canada offers advice, introduction and a list of approved lodging houses."

Then he added: "Unless you have capital which place would you choose if you were burning your boats? And if you had capital you'd probably take into the reckoning the fact that you'd get £125 Australian for every £100 sterling, against $273."

The Canadian immigration officer in the field knows the answers. It is just that Ottawa will not do anything about it. They will not even allow him ammunition to fire from his guns—the only posters are adapted from CPR and CNR posters. Film shows are in conjunction with travel agents. Not infrequently they supply inexperienced operators. There is not a single migrant film which really shows the migrant what to expect when he lands in Canada. There are travelogues, industrial films—but little with a migrant slant.

When the summer tourist season is on travel agents are notoriously indifferent to Canadian immigration. They do much better selling trips to Europe.

* * *

The most sought-after piece of migration literature distributed by the Canadian government is supplied free by a Canadian bank. The excellent stuff issued by the Department of Citizenship and Immigration is written in Canada angled from the Canadian viewpoint—not from the viewpoint of the intending migrant. It forgets that much so obvious as to be assumed by Canadians is not so obvious to the Englishman.

If Canada wants to succeed in its 1956 immigration drive it needs to provide for adequate publicity. It needs to provide funds for film shows and literature outside travel agents and commercial enterprises. It needs newspaper publicity by someone who knows England. The nearest so far is an attempt to capitalize on success stories circulated by an American advertising agency.

But if it really wants to catch the fish it will go in a big way for guaranteed jobs in association with Canadian employers. It will provide an all-in migrant fare from anywhere in Britain to anywhere in Canada—if it cannot be given at least it should be financed as an interest-free loan and it should offer at least a minimum of social security and insurance for medical and hospital expenses should the migrant be unlucky during his first month or two in his new country.

* * *

If Canada really wants migrants it can get them. It is not the men on the job who are to blame. It is government policy—the insularity that demands that a poster or a pamphlet must go to Ottawa to the Queen's Printer and probably be out of date by the time it arrives, the insularity which demands that before a photograph can be taken for press publication special authorization must be obtained from Ottawa, the insularity which will not allow for a few dollars for publicity and advertising. The guns are there but they have nothing to fire.

The Daily Colonist editorial is understood in London. They hope that Ottawa will read it too—and appreciate where the basic fault lies. If they do there will be no decline in migrants to Canada but the biggest upsurge in history.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

ELDERLY aunties in need of a few hundred handy dollars have a new way of earning, in addition to baby sitting. Some friends of mine were obliged to go overseas to England for a period of six months. The idea of renting their home furnished while they were away was very distasteful to them, as it is to most people who hate to leave their precious possessions to the mercy of strangers. However, there was income, good income, to be derived from the house which would otherwise stand there not even earning its taxes.

The situation was solved by an elderly aunt. They advertised their seven-room home for rent as follows: "Furnished seven-room house with housekeeper resident available for six-month period." They mentioned TV, garage and other appurtenances. And then they stuck a fancy figure for rent in conclusion.

The effect was miraculous. For a tenant they got an executive and his wife who were transferred from the States to a Canadian plant and who wanted about six months to look around before buying a home. The idea of having a housekeeper, in with the house, was wonderful for them; for the housekeeper, in addition to doing the housework, would be invaluable in acquainting the newcomers with the Canadian way. The fancy rent was nothing to the newcomers, who would have had to pay far more for hotel accommodation for the six-month period.

So my friends went abroad as happy as larks, knowing their old auntie would carefully protect their lares and penates. The newcomers were delighted to have an old lady to look after the house, buy the supplies and eventually introduce them not only to all the ways and means of the city, but to many local people as well. Instead of coming cold into a new community, they came warm.

And since the young couple abroad had agreed to split the rent with auntie, she got a nice little nest egg; they got enough and more to pay the taxes for the year. And they came home from abroad to find their home exactly as they had left it. Not even a handle broken off a cup.

Dunsmuir Story

I would beg a little space to rectify a possible misconception regarding my intentions in placing before the public the facts laid down in my recently published book "From Coalmine to Castle."

Firstly I would stress that no bias or ill-feeling exists on the part of the author for any members of the Dunsmuir family, or persons mentioned in the book.

The sole reason that I have been described as the "head of the family" is because during the enquiry into the legal status of the heir-at-law to James Dunsmuir's sister's (Lady Gough-Calthorpe's) estate, it was found that as the son of Byrdie Dunsmuir, James' eldest daughter, I was the senior male claimant to this estate. I am fully aware that there are James Dunsmuir's daughters, considerably older than myself, still living.

No malice whatsoever is intended in any part of my book and the documentary evidence to facts therein is merely set down in order to keep straight the historical data pertinent to the Dunsmuir story.

JAMES AUDAIN.

London Honors Karl Marx

LONDON (AP) — A memorial monument will rise above the grave of Karl Marx in time for the visit of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev to Britain next spring. The monument will be unveiled March 14, the anniversary of the death in 1884 of the founder of international Communism.

Eisenhower Plan Vetoed

Air Inspection Not Workable Says Bulganin

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Nikolai Bulganin has dismissed as unworkable President Eisenhower's proposal for mutual air inspection of military establishments and exchange of military blueprints.

He said Soviet proposals for disarmament and nuclear weapon control were more realistic.

The 1,500 deputies of the U.S.S.R.'s Supreme Soviet (parliament) laughed Thursday when Bulganin said Eisenhower's proposal would be ineffective because both countries had vast areas in which anything could be hidden. Bulganin spoke in the great hall of the Kremlin Palace, reporting to a special Supreme Soviet session on the Geneva "summit" conference.

He said all four powers—Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States — displayed at Geneva a desire to put an end to the cold war. But he said the arms race still was going on, "especially that of atomic weapons."

RESUMED TESTING

As Bulganin spoke, the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington announced the Russians had resumed testing nuclear weapons within the last few days.

Observers in Washington, coupling these developments, expressed the opinion the Soviet Union had given itself a double propaganda setback. It spurned the Eisenhower proposal which had captured popular imagination throughout the world, and showed itself just as interested in the development of nuclear super - weapons as the United States.)

At Geneva, Eisenhower proposed on July 21 an exchange of "a complete blueprint of military establishments" to ease the fear of war, adding he was advancing the plan to convince everyone of "the great sincerity" of the United States in approaching the problem of world tensions.

Bulganin made this reply Thursday:

"Paying tribute to the desire embodied in this proposal to find a solution to a complicated problem like this one of international control, one cannot but say at the same time the real effect of such measures would not be considerable.

"In unofficial talks with the leaders of the U.S. government we stated frankly that aerial photography cannot provide the expected results because our two countries comprise vast areas on which, if it were desired one could hide anything one wanted to.

MORE REALISTIC

"We consider as more realistic and more effective those proposals for setting up international control which were put forward by the Soviet government on May 10."

UBC Has Surprises For Students in Fall

UBC students will find changes when they go back to study in September.

A new $135,000 building will have replaced the old coffee shop and bus depot in the middle of the campus.

A UBC official said yesterday the building would house the coffee shop and bus depot with a new bookstore and post office.

A new $50,000 home management house is planned for September opening, too. Previously this was in an army hut. Home economics students will be able to gain practical homemaking experience.

A new wing is also under construction for the administration block.

A $200,000 men's dormitory is planned but not expected to be completed for the fall term. It is a project of the Presbyterian church.

Steaks in Hong Kong

Jubilant Airmen Deny They Spied

MANILA (AP) — Eleven jubilant U.S. airmen — released from 2½ years in Red China's prisons — reached here Thursday after denying Communist "spy" charges and telling of ordeals of questioning.

Well fed on steaks since their release at the British colony of Hong Kong Thursday afternoon, they rested today in an air-conditioned hospital at Clark Field just north of Manila.

They leave later today for Tokyo on the next leg of their long-awaited journey home and a reunion with relatives.

The men, although lean, were pronounced "in fairly good health." They told of better food and treatment just before their release Sunday from a Peiping prison — a release that came as a complete surprise to them.

The men told their stories briefly at a press conference in Hong Kong during which they spoke bitterly of their "trial."

Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., Silver Springs, Md., declared the B-29 was shot down by MiG jet fighters while still 35 to 40 miles from Red China's frontier. One of the charges on which the men were convicted and sentenced to prison terms of four to 10 years was that they "violated" Red China's air.

"I do not know the exact area," Arnold said, "but we were on a routine leaflet mission against six targets in Korea. We were picked up by the (search) light over the third target.

"We continued to drop our leaflets on the fourth target. We were attacked shortly after the fourth drop and on the fifth, just as we pulled the drop. And, on the sixth, we knew we had to abandon the aircraft."

Arnold said the men bailed out and became scattered. He was picked up by Chinese Communist troops the next morning.

"When we were first captured," Arnold said, "we were treated in accordance with the Geneva convention.

Meeting Set

Social Credit candidate for the vacant seat in the B.C. legislature will be named by Lillooet constituency members Saturday.

Five names have been submitted.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett and several B.C. Social Credit League directors will attend.

The by-election, caused by the resignation of Liberal Gordon Gibson, must be held by October 11. The CCF candidate is a school teacher, Jack H. Thomas.

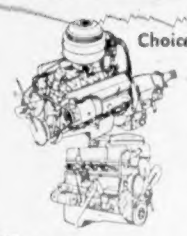

Liberal party officials say they will not name a candidate until after the date has been set.

Automobile is just a word until you drive a Chevrolet

Honestly, when you drive a 1955 Chevrolet you'll revise every one of your ideas about low-cost motoring. It's such a new and wonderful experience that we've coined a new phrase to describe it—motoramic driving! Try it—and see what we mean!

Choice of V8 or 6 Cylinder Engine
Either of these great new engines represents a truly magnificent mechanical achievement. Your own personal reasons will decide which is best for you. Both have such highly advanced features as ultra-high compression ratios, hydraulic valve lifters, 12-volt ignition systems, full pressure lubrication and many, many more. As a result, either will give you a whole new experience in economy, durability and performance.

Every Hand Control Within Easy Reach
Lights, ignition, starter, heater, gear shift, directional signals—all are right under your hands. No reaching, no stretching—in no time at all you find yourself operating them automatically — without even looking.

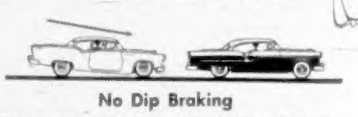

4-Fender Visibility
Once you've experienced this wonderful new feature, you'll realize that new horizons have been opened on driving visibility. You feel so much safer in traffic—you find parking's a cinch, because you can see more from every angle.

High-Level Ventilation
Chevrolet's new high-level air intake ventilation system bathes you in cleaner, fresher currents of air — in every season and under all weather conditions. It keeps out the rain, and lessens road heat, dust and fumes.

New Roominess
There's more room for hips, hats and legs on the inside of a Chevrolet—even though Chevrolet is more compact on the outside. And it's a roominess you appreciate on long trips—or when you want to carry six people in your car. Only Chevrolet gives you so much freedom to relax and enjoy the drive.

Wide Door Opening
Naturally, this makes Chevrolet easier to get in and out of — and you'll especially notice the difference when wearing bulky winter clothing or when doing the family shopping.

Ball-Race Steering
You'll appreciate the effect of Ball-Race Steering as soon as you handle the wheel of a Chevrolet. The wheel is easier to turn, there's less road vibration and astonishing balance and stability. That's because this new steering gear turns on scores of easy acting ball bearings.

Instant Response
When you want to get away from a light — when you need fast acceleration for passing — that's when you fully appreciate Chevrolet's instant response. Chevrolet's many ultra efficient "drive-features" all combine to give the fastest response in the low priced field.

No Dip Braking
Chevrolet stops with its front end level, without dipping or diving — with amazingly firm control of the car even during emergency stops. Gone is the feeling of being pitched up and out of the seat during sudden stopping.

Large Luggage Compartment
It's amazing what you can pack away in Chevrolet's trunk. It easily carries everything the family needs — and there's no awkward ledge to make loading and unloading difficult.

Day by day, more and more, Chevrolet leads in popularity... value... sales!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Sure-Footed Roadability
Chevrolet hugs the road like a low-slung sports car, yet smooths the bumps and ruts with effortless ease. This roadability is so outstanding that it's been acclaimed by automotive critics everywhere. But, prove it to yourself! Drive a Chevrolet today and you'll discover that its brilliant roadability, plus all its other magnificent features, make it the greatest family car ever produced.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices were lower on Winnipeg grain exchange, influenced by declines on United States markets and a private grain report that showed increased production of U.S. grains, including a possible record oats crop.

Increased offerings were noted, while commercial demand was limited. Trading was dull.

Domestic shipper buying in oats and barley met selling attributed to American interests. Flax was steady under export and processor buying. Flax and rye buying was light.

Lakehead prices for the top grades of Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Wednesday.

CHICAGO (AP)—All grains took a beating on the board of trade. Losses ran to a couple of cents, not enough to wipe out gains earlier this week.

September wheat closed $1.97; Sept. corn $1.37¼-1.37, Sept. oats 60¾, Sept. rye $1.00½-¼ and Sept. soybeans $2.28½-¾.

Not Panicky But New York 'Goes Slow'

NEW YORK (AP)—Banks tightened the reins on credit to check inflation, and the stock market was jostled sharply lower from its near-record peaks Thursday.

The jolt to the market was taken in stride without the slightest urgency in selling developing during the session.

Wednesday after the close and Thursday the federal reserve bank in most areas of the country raised their discount rates, the amount they charged member banks for lending them money. At the same time, New York city banks increased their charges for loans to business.

The action raised a great symbol of caution before Wall street eyes. It means "go slow." What's what the market did.

Losses went from 1 to around 3 points frequently and on out to 6 points. Major declines were found in almost all divisions.

Aircrafts were higher in sharp contrast to the rest of the list with gains of 1 to nearly 4 points. New U.S. government orders plus the Russian rejection of President Eisenhower's armament inspection plan combined to encourage buying of aircrafts.

Losses of as much as two points were posted by Canadian stocks. McIntyre dropped two points to 86 and was followed by Hiram Walker, off 1⅞, International Nickel, off 1⅝, Canadian Pacific, down ¾, Distillers Seagram, off 1⅝, Canadian Pacific, down ¾, Distillers Seagram, off ½, and Dome Mines, down ¼.

Lower Canadian issues on the American stock exchange included Royalite Oil and Lake Shore, off ⅛ and ¼ respectively.

Uraniums Depressed

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market went into a decline Thursday with all sections participating. Industrial issues reflected the softer position at New York where the effect of dearer bank loans was felt.

Uraniums were depressed.

Industrial stocks traded lightly and price changes seldom went to more than a point. The steels and foods gave the group its best support, showing a narrow majority of gains.

Uraniums slumped at the start, edged back a fraction in the early afternoon and finished a little above their lowest.

Only scattered gains showed in base metals. Among them was Hudson Bay, up 1½ at a high of 67. International Nickel dropped $1.

McIntyre fell 2¼ and Preston East Dome 90 to $8.50 to lead golds down.

Western oils eased amounts up to 45 cents. Consolidated West Pete lost that amount at $6.00.

Conwest was down 30 to $6.30 in holding companies.

Industrials Weaken

MONTREAL (CP — Industrials showed a vigorous downward movement at the close of moderately active trading on the stock market Thursday.

Eddy A dropped 3⅛ to 71, International Paper 3 to 103, and Minnesota and Ontario 2 to 61.

Hudson Bay advanced 1⅛ to 67½ and Weston at 111, moved up a point.

Papers slumped while base metals, following a dull opening, closed irregularly lower. Utilities fluctuated. Other sections suffered scattered declines.

Mines followed the generally lower trend.

B.C. Chemical Future Rosy

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

An optimistic view of British Columbia's future as a centre of the chemical industry was given in Vancouver yesterday by M. S. Beringer, president of B-A Oil.

This would follow the construction of the $140,000,000 natural gas pipeline from the Peace river area, which he believed would be built next year.

Mr. Beringer said his firm had great faith in the petrochemical industry in Canada, and saw no competition for oil in atomic power for a number of years.

BUSY WEEK FOR BANKS

An unusually large total of $12,220,017 was handled by the Victoria clearing house in the week ending August 4. This compared with the $9,707,141 total of cheque clearances in the corresponding week of 1954.

PIPE REVENUE HIGHER

Deliveries through the Interprovincial Pipe Line Ltd. in the first six months of 1955 amounted to 36,051,000 barrels. This was an increase from the corresponding period of 1954 when the throughput was 31,844,000 barrels.

Revenue was also up at $15,455,024 (against $14,541,483) but owing to extra depreciation and interest from pipe expansions amounting to $1,192,893, the Interprovincial Pipe net profit for the six-month period was lower than a year ago.

The net profit of $2,902,711 represented 58 cents a share, compared with the $3,123,598 or 62 cents a share made in the first half of 1954.

The company subsequently increased its semi-annual dividend from 50 to 60 cents a share.

GERMAN DEAL SOUGHT

John C. Doyle, chairman of Canadian Javelin has left for Germany where he hopes to conclude an agreement with Essen steel manufacturers for the sale of 3,000,000 tons of iron ore a year for a ten-year period.

The ore will come from Javelin's Lake Wabash properties on the Labrador-Quebec border, and if the deal is completed it is planned to spend $80,000,000 in building of a 42-mile spur line from Wabash to the Knob Lake-Seven Islands railway, and to construct a number of 36,000 ton ore carriers.

OIL FIRMS MERGED

Operations in the western oil industry ranging from the B.C. border to Manitoba are being undertaken by Rio-Palmer Oil Ltd. as the result of the amalgamation of Rio-Prado and Palmer Oil Development.

Head of the new firm is J. H. Hirshhorn, the Toronto financier with big interests in the Blind River uranium area.

Rio-Palmer has 30 wells with 4,500,000 barrels of proven oil reserves. It also has gas holdings in the Peace River along the route of Westcoast Transmission line with more than 28,000,000,000 cubic feet, and it also has a minority interest in B.C. Oil Lands and Prairie Oil Royalties.

Rio-Prado Oils will be removed from the trading list at Toronto Stock Exchange today and will be replaced by Rio-Palmer.

Rio-Prado shares are exchangeable into Rio-Palmer on a four old for one new basis.

PLYWOOD FIRM EXPANDS

Western Plywoods Ltd. is to build a $1,000,000 plywood plant in Edmonton next year. It will be run by a wholly-owned subsidiary of the B.C. firm which produces about a fifth of all B.C. plywood at its Vancouver mills.

New Edmonton plant will use poplar wood and will have a monthly capacity of 2,500,000 square feet. No public financing is contemplated, according to John Bene, president.

Collieries at $11

VANCOUVER — Except for odd firm spots, stocks slipped over a fairly wide front.

Canadian Collieries was particularly weak closing at $11, for a loss of over $1 on the day. Midwest dropped to $4.50 and Federated to $5.50. Trade in oils, however, was negligible.

Industrials were mixed with MacMillan and Bloedel down $1.50 at $43½, and Capital Estates down 10 cents at $5.40. Inland Natural Gas was off 10 cents at $2.90. Western Plywood remained firm at $22.

B-A OFFICIALS VISIT

Following their quarterly director's meeting in Vancouver, directors and officers of B-A Oil will pay a visit to Victoria today as guests of Lieut.-Governor Clarence A. Wallace, who is a member of the board.

The party will travel by Fifer, the lieut.-governor's yacht.

Leading the visitors is M. S. Beringer, president and chairman, and J. G. Godsoe, executive vice-president.

Others include J. A. Fuller, president of Shawinigan Water and Power, which shares a petrochemical plant in Montreal with B-A; R. A. Laidlaw, chairman National Trust Co., Beverley Matthews Q.C., C. L. Suhr, chairman Pennzoil Co., and W. A. Wecker, head of General Motors of Canada.

Three-Day Regatta Draws Big Entry

More than 50 craft of 10 different classes have been entered to date for the Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association's sixth annual invitational regatta scheduled this week-end.

The three-day affair will include a ring distance race starting Friday at 7 p.m. from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

The course is from Cadboro bay, around either side of Trial island, inside passage by Brotchie ledge light and outside Scrogg rock. Finish line is opposite the admiral's saluting base at Duntz head in Esquimalt harbor.

Taking part in the distance race will be A class entries, Dragons, Stars and Lightnings.

Series races, commencing at 2 p.m. Saturday and 9.30 a.m. Sunday will be held in the Esquimalt area with "A" and "C" classes, Dragons, Stars, Lightnings, Snipes, cutters, whalers and dinghies competing.

Presentation of awards will be made by Rear-Admiral H. F. [illegible] Coast, at 2.45 p.m. Sunday at the RCNSA clubhouse, Munro head.

An informal party will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday in the clubhouse, followed by the regatta dance. A buffet lunch will be served Sunday at 1.30 p.m.

RCNSA officials are: Commodore, Lieut.-Cmdr. R. Smith; Vice-Commodore, Lieut. K. D. Lewis; fleet captain, Frank Piddington; secretary, Lieut.-Cmdr. R. N. McDiarmid, and treasurer, Lieut.-Cmdr. J. H Marshall.

Britain had 13,455,061 radio receiving licences in force in April 1954.

'Uphill' Swim Race Set for Youngsters

If Juan de Fuca strait was the "Everest" of marathon swims, the two-mile stretch from Elk lake to Beaver lake is the "Mount Douglas."

An eager bunch of youngsters will attempt the "peak" September 5 for the Sadler cup.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sadler, Lake Side Tearooms, are sponsoring the swim from Elk lake to the beach a Beaver lake.

A $50 silver perpetual trophy will be awarded the winner, who will also receive a smaller cup as a permanent prize.

The competition is open to boys and girls under 16, and registration must be filed by August 15.

Written permission from parents is necessary for contenders, who may file application by phone, mail or in person.

A boat and pilot will be available for training swims Tuesday and Thursdays after 6 p.m.

The sponsors will also provide transportation for any contender entering in the race where necessary for training.

Norma Hatting, a 15-year-old summer waitress at Beaver lake, sparked the idea of the lake swim, which will be an annual affair, when she covered the distance last Sunday in one hour and 50 minutes.

Janice White, Juan de Fuca strait swim contender, was on hand at Beaver lake last night to give pointers to young swim hopefuls.

Mountain Relay Test Set

Preliminary tests of 12 mountain radio relay stations in the B.C. portion of a trans-Canada microwave system will start this month. The stations will transmit continent-wide, all-dialing long distance telephone calls and television signals.

The 3,800-mile network from Vancouver to Sydney, N.S., known as TD2, will be operated by companies of Trans-Canada Telephone System.

The preliminary test involves transmission of radio signals from the proposed relay sites on Burnaby mountain, Sumas mountain, Hope, Blackwell mountain, Manning Park, Hedley, Anarchist mountain, Phoenix, Mount Santa Rosa in the Trail district, Lost creek near Salmo, Thompson mountain near Creston, Moyie mountain and Morrissey ridge near Fernie.

Construction of the rugged B.C. portion will cost more than $5,000,000 and is expected to take three years.

Paper Doll Excites Jealousy

BESSEMER, Ala. (UP)—It's fantastic, police admit, but they've jailed Myrtle.

Myrtle is scantily clad, Chief C. T. Mullen also admitted, but "not indecent as far as I can see." Myrtle is just a paper doll, a life-size cardboard cutout clad in a Bikini.

But Myrtle looks very real, especially in photographs of men posing with her in the promotion stunt of a beer distributor here.

A housewife who saw a photograph of her husband with the dummy refused to believe she was not a real, live girl, and wanted to charge Myrtle with alienation of affection, indecent exposure—"anything."

Mullen gave the word and Myrtle, still clad in her Bikini, is in jail—incommunicado, in fact.

Youth Takes Over in Ladies' Golf

Young golfers stole the spotlight at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club yesterday as play started in Canadian ladies' golf championships. Biggest news of all was made by young veteran, 21-year-old Marlene Stewart, defending close and open champion from Eonthill, Ontario. She set a new ladies' course record of 75 to take four-stroke lead in 54-hole medal-play close tournament. She is seen above as she sinks short putt for par five on 18th hole.

Marlene Four Strokes in Front After Setting Colwood Record

BY JIM TANG

Marlene Stewart made the big news yesterday as play opened at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club in the 1955 Canadian Ladies' Close golf championship.

Recovering from a double-bogey par six on the first hole, the tiny 21-year-old defending champion from Fonthill, Ontario, confounded those who claimed Colwood's par of 77 would stand up in competition. She got a stroke back on the fourth and the ninth, swept to birdies on the 10th and 11th to set a new women's competitive course record of 75.

In trouble only when her second shot on the first got into the trees on the right, Miss Stewart showed just why she holds the Close and Open championships and why she won the British amateur in 1953.

MODEL OF CONSISTENCY

Her round was a model of consistency as she recorded 13 pars, four birdies and the double bogie. She was straight and long off the tees and her accurate approach shots put her close enough to pick up her birdies by saving a putt.

She sank a four-footer on the fourth to get one stroke back and she rammed in a 30-footer on the ninth for a three, the only birdie of the day on that tough par four.

On the 10th, another tough par four, she cut across the out-of-bounds with her second shot, chipped in close and sank her first putt to go one under par. A drive, chip and a putt put her two under on the 11th and she parred the last seven holes. She was at her best on the back nine and with a bit more luck could have had a 36 or 37 instead of a 38.

Par out	445 355 344—37
Miss Stewart out	645 255 343—37
Par in	545 453 545—40—77
Miss Stewart in	435 453 545—38—75

FOUR STROKES BACK

Four strokes behind the champion in second place is Rae Milligan, the Alberta and Ontario champion who defeated Miss Stewart at match play in the Ontario tournament.

The Jasper, Alberta, golfer justified the pre-tourney rating which credited her with being the most likely to beat Miss Stewart by carding a 79 despite a scrambly day which saw her lose two strokes to par on the 10th when her drive went deep into the trees on the left.

Two strokes back is Marlene Wach of Winnipeg with an 81, while Judy Darling of Hudson Heights, Quebec, Betty Stanhope of Edmonton and Ruth Wilson of Vancouver share fourth place with 82's.

Victoria golfers, like most others, found the course tough despite near-perfect conditions. B.C. champion Dorothy Herbertson, B.C. team captain Margaret Todd, Mrs. H. G. Mearns and Mrs. H. McIntyre had the best score of the 16 city entrants, each shooting an 87. Only 11 golfers managed to do better than 85.

A feature was the dominance of a fine crop of golfing youngsters. Both Miss Stewart and Miss Milligan are 21, Miss Wach is only a year removed from junior ranks and Miss Stanhope and Miss Darling are both 17-year-olds.

And behind them come some more youngsters — 20-year-old Joanne Goulet of Regina (83); 'teen-aged Sheila Collins of Dundas, Ontario (83); 23-year-old Mary Gay of Kitchener (8); 20-year-old Noreen Laing of Port Credit, Ontario (84); junior Janet MacWha of Knowlton, Quebec (85).

These 10 were all among the 13 who had 85 or better.

Second 18 holes of the 54-hole medal-play Close will be played today with the first golfers scheduled to start off the first tee at 9 a.m.

Ontario Takes One-Stroke Lead In Battle To Retain Team Crown

Team supremacy in the Canadian ladies' golf championships this year is a toss-up after yesterday's opening 18 holes. Five of the eight provincial teams are still very much in the running for the CLGU Trophy for low gross honors and a sixth is close enough to have a chance.

Teams of four players play 36 holes in the team match. The second 18 is scheduled today.

Defending champion Ontario, which won the gross trophy last year with a score of 665, is ahead by one stroke over Quebec, 340-341 at the half-way mark.

B.C. TEAM THIRD

Three strokes behind Quebec, at 344, is the British Columbia quartet. Manitoba is two strokes behind B.C. and four strokes ahead of Alberta, fifth at 350. Saskatchewan's total is 358. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia haven't a chance at 384 and 390, respectively.

Fight for the Crockett Trophy which goes to the team with low net score, is even closer although Quebec has a five-stroke lead on Ontario, 324 to 329. Then comes B.C. at 330, Manitoba at 332, Alberta and Saskatchewan at 341, New Brunswick at 343 and Nova Scotia at 364.

Balance, of course, was the big item in the team play. Ontario scores ranged between 83 and 87, Quebec scores between 82 and 88, B.C. scores between 84 and 88 and Manitoba scores between 81 and 90. Alberta got a good start when Rae Milligan came in with a 79 and Betty Stanhope followed with an 82, but it was a bad afternoon for the team's two veterans.

JUNIOR MATCH

Manitoba took the lead in the junior team match, which is based on low net score over 36 holes, with a net total of 158 which was good enough for a 12-stroke lead.

Second 18 will be played today and the Dominion junior championship starts today with the first 18 holes of 36. Judging from what has happened already, the winning junior score won't be too far off the senior score, unless Marlene Stewart continues to break par.

A field of 21 has entered the junior championship and no less than eight of the entrants are playing for the senior team from their province.

Among the favorites and their scores yesterday in Close and team play are Betty Stanhope of Edmonton (81), Joanne Goulet, Regina (83), Sheila Collins, Dundas, Ont. (83), Noreen Laing, Port Credit, Ont. (84); Janet MacWha, Knowlton, Que. (85), Joyce Alston, Hull, Que. (88), Mary Ellen Driscoll, East Riverside, N.B. (89).

Team scores:

ONTARIO (340)

Heatherington Starry In Shamrock Victory

Last night's score: VICTORIA 13 at New Westminster 9.

Next game, tonight: Vancouver vs. Indians.

Victoria Shamrocks kept alive their faint hopes of retaining the Inter-City Lacrosse League championship at New Westminster last night, defeating the Salmonbellies, 13-9, as Jim Heatherington turned in a fine job of goaltending.

Victory pushed Rocks within four points of Nanaimo Timbermen, who need only one win in four games or a Victoria defeat in one of three remaining games to succeed their Island rivals as champs.

HOPELESS CASE

At the same time, the result just about 'doused Salmonbellies' playoff hopes. A chance for a tie with Pilseners now depends on the protest of Tuesday's game, which appears to have scant hope of being successful. In the event it should be, the Bellies would have to win their remaining games while Pilseners lost theirs and, at the same time, get enough goals to make up a big deficit to win out on goal average in the resultant point tie.

Salmonbellies outshot the Rocks, 44-29, but Heatherington shut the door in the last half as he kicked out 21 of 22 shots while his teammates scored five goals to break an 8-8 half-time tie.

NIP GETS REST

While staying in the championship battle, the Shamrocks will now have to play without Nip O'Hearn at Nanaimo Saturday night. The veteran defenseman incurred a match misconduct penalty for arguing with referee Ernie Smith and that calls for an automatic one-game suspension.

Bob Dobbie, Al Davies, Jackie Northup and Al Gill each scored two goals for the winners. Cliff Sepka gave Heatherington most of his trouble by scoring four times for New Westminster.

Mrs. Butterfield Wins Ladies' Singles Title

Mrs. Gertrude Butterfield of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club became the first titleholder in the 28th annual Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association tournament when she downed Mrs. C. Rumball of the Terminal club in the women's singles final last night.

Mrs. Butterfield edged her Vancouver opponent, 16-12, in a keenly-contested struggle at the Canadian Pacific greens to take possession of the James McMartin Cup, won last year by Mrs. A. Stewart of Burnside.

An all-Mainland final in the men's singles championship was assured at Beacon Hill last night when T. Owens of West Point Grey trimmed H. Thorneycroft of Nanaimo, 16-2. Owens meets White Rock's J. Hazlett in the final round Saturday morning for the title, which was undefended by Jim Hodges of Vancouver.

Thorneycroft had advanced into the semi-finals by downing H. Davies, Canadian Pacific, 15-8.

Colin Ward of the Canadian Pacific club earned a berth in the men's doubles final of the Fort Garry Cup competition when he made his way to a 20-8 triumph over Charlie Fea of Burnside. Ward clashed with Archie Finlay, Victoria West, in the final round.

One quarter-final and one semi-final match was completed in each of two men's doubles competitions.

TACOMA PAIR WINS

In the Martin Cup bracket, E. Myers and Lou Thomas of Tacoma bested Bull and Hamilton of Beacon Hill in an extra end to gain the final round. Baker and Evans, Canadian Pacific, were quarter-final winners, downing Burnside's Fea and Beck.

A. Inglis and A. Morrison of the White Rock club marched into the final of the Walter Cross Bowl doubles as they scored a semi-final win over Baker and Hiquebran of Victoria West. In the quarter-finals, Ferris and Middleton, Tacoma, ousted H. Martin and H. Tuck of Nanaimo.

Mixed rinks and doubles play will continue today with finals in most events carded for Saturday.

Jokers Wage Uphill Battle To Nip Navy

Jokers won the opening game of their best-of-three Senior "B" lacrosse league semi-final series with Navy last night by defeating the sailors, 14-11 in overtime at Stevenson park last night.

It was an uphill struggle all the way for the Jokers, who trailed Navy 10-8 with a minute remaining in regulation time. Bob Seens fired in a goal with 50 seconds left in regulation time, to make it 10-9, then scored again 30 seconds later to force the overtime.

Navy opened scoring in overtime, but the Jokers came back to tie the score and then score three unanswered goals for the win.

Scorers follow:

Navy—Jaschuck, Anderson 1, Doig 1, D. Anderson 2, McMeechan 2, Kelly 2, Larson 1, Bain 1. Total—11.

Aussie Girl Tops Record

LONDON (CP)—Australia's Shirley Strickland ran the 100 metres in 11.3 seconds Thursday to break the world's record for the distance, Warsaw radio reported.

Miss Strickland, running at the Warsaw youths' sports festival, bettered the listed mark of 11.4 set by Marjorie Jackson, also of Australia.

M. P. Krivonosov of Russia broke the men's hammer throw record with a toss of 211 feet 11¾ inches. S. Strandli of Norway held the previous record with a throw of 200 feet, 11 inches at Oslo in 1952.

Cycling Record

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Donato Piazza of Italy bettered the 5,000-metre world cycling record Thursday, covering the distance in six minutes, 17.4-5 seconds.

The previous record belonged to another Italian, Fabio Battesini, who was timed at 6.21 in 1938.

Second-place Mary's Coffee Bar wound up the Senior "B" Men's Softball League regular season by edging Foresters, 2-1, in a fast and well-played game at Heywood Avenue park last night.

Semi-final league playoffs begin Sunday, with first-place Trade-Ats meeting Esquimalt in the first game of a best-of-three series at 2 p.m. and Mary's playing Foresters in the opener of a similar series at 6.30 p.m. Both games are at Heywood Avenue park.

Eric Helgeson won last night's game for Mary's with a two-run double in the fifth inning.

Ontario Sure of Title As B.C. Team Loses

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ontario defeated Manitoba by 127 runs Thursday to retain the Canadian cricket championship. It was the fourth straight victory for the eastern side and assured them of no worse than a tie in the standings with two matches remaining.

A tie would leave Ontario with the title.

British Columbia, nearest rival of Ontario, suffered defeat as Alberta beat the West Coast team by five wickets. The two western teams now are tied with two wins and two losses each. Manitoba has lost all its games.

Ontario sailed to an easy victory over the luckless Manitobans, running up the highest score of the tournament so far — 238 for seven wickets declared. Manitoba scored 111.

Second highest score was tallied by B.C. Tuesday—221 for eight wickets, also against Manitoba.

Peter Cullimore led the Albertans to victory as he defied all changes in bowling and ran the score to 32 before being caught. Later Roy Robbins joined Cullimore, making 15 not out and Cullimore 27 not out for the victory.

Juvenile Clubs Battle to Tie

Oak Bay Shamrocks and Strathcona Cafe battled to a 5-5 deadlock in their juvenile lacrosse game played last night at Carnarvon park.

Strathcona led the Bays, 2-1, at half-time, but were outscored 2-0 in the third quarter to bring the score to 3-2. However, they netted three goals to the Bays' two in the final period to gain the tie.

Anglers Fill 43 Rungs With Three Days Left

Another 10 salmon were weighed in at Saanich Inlet boathouses yesterday as anglers scrambled for the 50 rungs available in the final weekly qualifying competition of the annual VSIAA ladder derby.

Yesterday's fishing brought to 43 the number of rungs claimed and left only seven vacant rungs with three days still remaining before qualifying fishing ends Sunday night.

John Casilio made the biggest news yesterday as he brought in a 26-pound, two-ounce spring at Brentwood. Casilio hooked his salmon near McKenzie Bay while trolling deep with a Strip Teaser.

Mrs. F. Burton still holds the top rung with the 27.06-pounder she boated at the Goldstream end Monday.

Ulrich, Palmer Share Lead in All-American

CHICAGO (CP)—Wally Ulrich and Arnold Palmer shot four-under-par 68s Thursday to take the first-round lead in the $25,000 Tam O'Shanter all-American golf tournament.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver was two strokes behind the leaders with a 70.

Jimmy Demaret, Jerry Barber and British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia finished with 71s in humid, 95-degree heat which hardened the greens.

Chick Harbert and Jim Turnesa matched par 72 on the 6,915-yard course. Cary Middlecoff and Walter Burkemo settled for 73s and U.S. Open champion Jack Fleck slipped to 77.

In the amateur division, Doug Sands of Cedartown, Ga., shot a three-under-par 69 to take a three-stroke lead.

Three Vancouver Golfers Gain Semi-Finals; U.S. Stars Defeated

BY PETER MURRAY

CALGARY (CP)—A pair of dramatic 20th-hole victories by Lyle Crawford and Moe Norman Thursday assured the first all-Canadian final in the Canadian amateur golf championships since 1951.

Crawford 22-year-old Vancouver car salesman, edged Don Bislinghoff, Orlando, Fla., and the carefree Norman from Kitchener, Ont., ousted long-hitting Hobart Manley Jr., of Savannah, Ga., in quarter-final matches.

Bislinghoff and Manley were the last surviving Americans in the gruelling week-long match play test.

Crawford and Norman were joined in the semi-finals by two Vancouver amateurs, Doug Bajus and Bob Kidd.

Kidd advanced by beating veteran Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., in a marathon 22-hole duel late in the day.

SILVERBERG OUT

Bajus knocked out Alberta's last survivor, Doug Silverberg of Red Deer, with a 4 and 2 victory.

In the 36-hole semi-finals today Crawford meets Kidd and Bajus takes on Norman.

It was a spine-tingling day of golf with three of the four afternoon matches going into extra holes. Eight fourth-round matches were played in the morning.

Kidd's victory on the fourth extra hole came when Weslock put his approach shot into a trap in front of the green and he chipped out 35 feet short of the cup. Weslock's putt ran two inches past the hole for a one-over-par five on the 398-yard hole.

BOTH IN BUNKER

Crawford beat Bisplinghoff on the 145-yard 20th hole when both players put their tee shots into a bunker and the American was 20 feet short of the hole coming out.

Crawford came out within three feet and sank his putt for a par while Bisplinghoff needed two putts to get down.

Also on the 20th, Norman put his tee shot eight feet from the hole while Manley was short of the green in long grass. Manley chipped too strongly and his ball ran 10 feet past the cup. He missed his putt and Norman was the winner with a par three.

The long-hitting Manley got a stern battle from Victoria's Bill McColl before advancing into the quarter-finals with a one-up victory in the morning round.

In other matches yesterday morning, Norman beat Calgary's Al Hunter, 6 and 5; Crawford edged Joe Leblanc of Montreal, one up; Kidd beat Montreal's Tom Hunter, 3 and 2; Bajus ousted Mike Pyke of Calgary, one up; Bisplinghoff bested Jerry Magee of Toronto, 2 and 1; Silverberg defeated John Poyen, Calgary, at the 19th; and Weslock beat Bert Ticehurst, Vancouver, two up.

Last night's score: Chinese Students 9, United Services 8.

Next game tonight: Arrow Furniture vs. Cec Fletchers, 6.45, Central park.

Chinese Students scored one run in the bottom of the ninth inning of their Senior "A" Men's Softball League game with United Services to emerge with a 9-8 victory in an error-studded contest at Central park last night.

With the score tied at 8-8 and runners on first and third, shortstop Mel Padgett bobbled Quinton Marr's grounder to hand the Students their victory and almost certainly doom his team to last place in the standings.

The game was a wild affair in which the score was knotted no less than four times. Services broke a 1-1 deadlock with five runs in the fourth, but the unpredictable Students came back with five markers of their own in their half of the inning to gain another tie.

Both teams scored once in the sixth, Students pulled ahead, 8-7, in the seventh and the losers tied it up again in the ninth before finally dropping the decision in the bottom half of the frame.

Tonight at Central park, Arrow Furniture takes the first step in its attempt to defeat league-leading Fletchers three times in a row.

Game time is 6.45.

Pittsburgh	40	70	.364	35½

By the Associated Press

Cleveland Indians climbed into a virtual tie with Chicago White Sox for first place in the American League Thursday when Vic Wertz hammered a three-run homer to give the Redskins a 6-3 victory over the Yankees at New York.

Only two games separated fourth-place Boston and the leading White Sox after some slugging by Jackie Jensen and Jimmy Piersall provided a 7-3 Red Sox triumph over Chicago.

The Boston defeat sliced the White Sox' league lead to only two percentage points over Cleveland, and dropped the Yankees into third place, a game behind the pacesetters.

Washington bats rang out for 15 hits and the Senators slowed down Detroit Tigers' pennant hopes, 9-6. And former Yankee Ed Lopat made his Baltimore debut beating Kansas City Athletics 8-1 on an eight-hitter.

BRAVES FALL APART

At Milwaukee the Braves blew a 9-6 lead in the top of the ninth inning to Brooklyn Dodgers, who poured five tallies across the plate and won out in an 11-10 slugfest.

The victory boosted the Dodgers 15½ games in front of the second-place Braves for their largest lead in the National League this season.

Earnie Banks walloped his 34th, 35th and 36th homers at Chicago and the Cubs edged Pittsburgh 11-10 in another adding machine affair. Banks also had a single in five trips and accounted for seven runs.

Wertz smashed his 13th homer in the seventh off Johnny Kucks with the score 2-2 after a single by Gene Woodling and a walk to Al Rosen, who had four singles in four trips for the afternoon. Mickey Mantle hit his 24th homer in the 9th inning when a Yankee rally fizzled out. The Yankees, who led the league by 6½ games July 2, have lost 19 of their last 30 games.

Jensen and Piersall drove in six Red Sox runs, and Ellis Kinder came on in relief at Boston to retire the last five batters and preserve Willard Nixon's 11th victory. It was Boston's 42nd victory in the last 56 games.

The only Kansas City run off Ed Lopat was Joe Astroth's circuit blow.

Hendra To Captain West In Cricket Game Sunday

VANCOUVER (CP) — An all-day cricket match at Victoria's Beacon Hill park Sunday may decide whether the East or the West boasts the best cricket players in Canada.

Opening at 11 a.m., the match will be halted for the luncheon interval between 1 and 2.15 p.m. Stumps will be drawn at 7.

Ontario and Manitoba will represent the east and British Columbia and Alberta the west. The sides will be drawn from most of the players now taking part in the Canadian cricket championships here.

Captain for the east will be D. Orr of Ontario. G. Archer, J. W. Chappell, B. Christen, J. Slaven, M. M. Taylor and V. Walker, all from Ontario; and R. Billinton, P. H. Charnley and D. Stewart from Manitoba will round out the side. K. Coad of Manitoba will be carried as a 12th man.

Dennis Hendra of Victoria will lead the west. J. Abell, P. Stead and C. D. Yeomans of Vancouver; R. Douglas and R. Hazell of Calgary; R. Petley-Jones of Edmonton; G. Ellis of Cowichan; and E. T. Parkins, J. Sparks, E. H. Richards and B. Twamley of Victoria will oppose the east.

Victoria Stars Down Saanich

Victoria All-Stars defeated Saanich All-Stars, 8-5, in a Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association peewee division game played Wednesday night at Memorial Arena.

In an exhibition game played yesterday at Stevenson park, the girls lacrosse team finally achieved its ambition and defeated the pick of the peewee division boys, 8-7.

Scorers follow:

Girls team—Carol Hayton 2, Pat Burnett 2, Maureen George 2, Eleanor Swaine 1, Joan Hall 1. Total 8.
Boys team—John Hanson 2, Al Tarbert 2, Brian Spaven 1, Neil Sanger 1. Total 7.
Victoria—Brian Spaven 3, Ray Beech 2, John Hall 2, Paul Wade 1. Total 8.
Saanich—Larry Johnstone 2, Jack Trueman 1, Bill Munroe 2. Total 5.

A big plus...exclusive with Chevron!

"Detergent-Action"

New Power!

+ new power...from Standard's newest process in refining gasoline comes the highest octane in Chevron history! It means more power for high-compression engines, more "lift" on steep mountain grades, smoother pick-up in city traffic or on the open road!

+ "Detergent-Action"...the Chevron exclusive that cleans away carburetor deposits—ends the biggest single cause of engine trouble. In addition, through Standard's new refining methods, Chevron Gasolines control the major source of harmful combustion acids to extend the life and power of your engine up to 135% longer.

+ balanced performance...not 1, not 2, but every gasoline feature your car needs: increased gas mileage, smooth idling, and stall prevention because of "Detergent-Action" + fast starting + quick warm-up + surging acceleration + extra power + higher anti-knock + area blending + rust and corrosion prevention + vapor-lock protection + longer engine life.

Chevron Supreme...for knock-free performance in high-compression engines.
Chevron Regular...for peak power in engines with lower octane requirements.
You alone can prove this performance in your car...why not try a tankful today!

Scouts Set For Trip To Jamboree

NANAIMO—A red letter day is in store August 14 for some 80 Boy Scouts and their leaders from the mid-Island district.

The group will leave Nanaimo at 3 p.m. on that date for the World Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario.

The boys will be from Nanaimo, Duncan, Shawnigan Lake, the Albernis, Campbell River, Courtenay and Cumberland.

In charge of the group will be Scoutmaster A. N. Skipsey of Port Alberni. His assistants will be Scoutmasters R. Richmond of Nanaimo and C. J. Curtis of Shawnigan Lake.

The boys have earned their way to the jamboree through paper and bottle salvage drives and doing odd jobs.

* * *

COURTENAY —Storekeepers and clerks in Courtenay favor Friday night opening.

A special meeting of the Retail Merchants association approved Friday night, until September when closing hours may be readjusted.

* * *

CUMBERLAND — City Council expressed dissatisfaction over the proposed installation of an oil furnace in the new two-room school at Cumberland and were not satisfied with the reply received from the school board regarding their former offer of property.

The city clerk was instructed to write to the board [illegible] and request that a [illegible] be [illegible] to the school.

The Council also made a donation of $25 to the Comox District Band to assist with their expenses while at the PNE.

* * *

PORT ALBERNI — A well known B.C. restaurateur died in West Coast General Hospital late Wednesday, aged 58.

Proprietor of Martin's Cafe [illegible] George Sambo [illegible] came here from New Westminster where he was in the restaurant business for 17 years. He was a native of [illegible].

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, [illegible] and [illegible]; brothers, [illegible] and [illegible], Winnipeg.

Services will be held in [illegible] Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Monday, Rev. H. R. [illegible] officiating. Burial will be in [illegible] cemetery.

$95,000 Ice Centre Set

COURTENAY — Courtenay is to have a $95,000 ice centre, a meeting of the Fall Fair Board decided recently.

Preparations for construction will take place as soon as final blue prints have been made and a special meeting of engineers and contracting specialists has been held.

Bruce Lory, building committee chairman, read a detailed report offering two possibilities to the board, one of which, the building of a $[illegible] centre, was discarded as being financially impossible at the present time.

The smaller general ice centre was chosen as a step towards the larger one. It will have an ice surface large enough for skating, curling and some hockey games and could be used as an exhibition hall in the summer months.

Building committee comprises Bruce Lory, W. K. Hod, Jake Epp and J. Gunter. Financial committee members are H. Cornwall, R. J. [illegible], W. C. Moore, Mrs. W. M. McGill and T. Ryan.

It is expected that the arena will be ready for use some time this coming winter.

* * *

PORT ALBERNI — Tyee Club season officially opened Sunday but so far there has been a noticeable lack of co-operation on the part of the fish.

So far Mrs. Elsie Ahlquist is the only member to have weighed in a Tyee. Publicity officer for the club, Mrs. Ahlquist, will be awarded the special trophy for the first Tyee of the season. Her fish weighed 33½ pounds.

* * *

COURTENAY — Five Courtenay cadets, L.-Cpl. Brian Richards, L.-Cpl. Don Apps, Robert [illegible], F. T. Laid and Raymond Galeazzi are among the more than 600 B.C. and Alberta army cadets camping in the Okanagan Valley at Vernon for a seven-week training course.

* * *

COURTENAY — Because of bad weather last Saturday night the annual Courtenay Recreation Association swimming gala was postponed to August 6 at memorial pool.

The committee reported there are six entries for the "Miss Comox District" contest, sponsored by Comox RCAF, Union Bay Community Club, Eagles, CPA, [illegible] Bay Community Club and the Kinsmen of Courtenay.

Girls are to be judged on charm, personality and deportment, beauty of face and figure, ability to speak in public, general intelligence and special ability.

Judges will be Miss Doreen Henderson, Cumberland; Mrs. J. Noel, Comox; Mrs. J. Moore, Union Bay; Dr. P. Alderman, RCAF; Ted Gaskell, Courtenay; J. Bowbrick, Tsolum, and Dr. G. J. Theal, Courtenay.

LADYSMITH — Mr. and Mrs. John Shank of Ladysmith have taken over management of the New Western Cafe at the New Western Hotel here.

* * *

COURTENAY — Additional accommodation for the more than 100 extra students expected when school opens in September was discussed at a recent meeting of the school board.

A proposal to partition the lunchroom to make room for an additional 40 desks, two teachers' desks and blackboards was disputed by C. J. [illegible], inspector, who thought noises in the partitioned room would prove too disturbing. He suggested arrangements be made so that the two parts would not be used at the same time. The matter was left for further investigation.

Contracts for electrical and plumbing improvements for the high school were awarded Franklin Electric for $[illegible] and J. C. [illegible] for $[illegible]. Contract for transporting Hornby Island school pupils was awarded K. Stenhouse for 20 cents per mile. Two teachers appointed were Miss V. [illegible] to Hornby Island and [illegible] O'Neill to Cumberland Elementary school.

Business Trouble Blamed

NANAIMO — [illegible] a Victoria grocer, was fined $150 and costs when he appeared in police court yesterday before Magistrate Lorne Beevor-Potts charged with impaired driving.

RCMP said Simpson [illegible] was apprehended at Ladysmith [illegible] driving [illegible] was weaving all over the road.

Simpson told the court he realized he had been very foolish and said he was ashamed of his behavior, which he blamed on business trouble.

Jim Asseltine of Nanaimo was fined $10 and costs for speeding in the [illegible] district.

NANAIMO — Mrs. Elizabeth Coundley, 499 Milton, was rushed to hospital for treatment yesterday after her hands were burned in a flash fire.

She was melting paraffin for preserves when the wax caught fire.

Mrs. Wallace Acts as Guide

Mrs. Clarence Wallace was hostess yesterday at a Government House reception for 25 cadets of the U.S. Civil Air Patrol on a two-day visit to Victoria. The cadets are touring B.C. on an exchange visit with a group of Canadian cadets now in the United States. Mrs. Wallace acted as guide in the absence of his honor and here is showing an Indian curio to Cadet Fred Hensbarth, Hawaii, left, and Cadet William Reichard, Puerto Rico.

Tender for More Than $4,000,000 Lowest for Upper Campbell Dam

A tender of more than $4,000,000 was the lowest of six opened yesterday by the B.C. Power Commission for the general contract to build its new dam and powerhouse at Upper Campbell lake.

It is believed to be the largest single contract considered in B.C. for many years.

The lowest tender was entered by Marwell Construction Co. of Vancouver at $4,139,[illegible]. This was more than $[illegible] lower than the next lowest tenders by Dawson Wade Ltd., Vancouver at $4,921,8[illegible]. Next was a joint tender by Emil Anderson Construction Ltd. and General Construction Ltd. of Vancouver at $4,[illegible].

Others were [illegible] Vancouver $[illegible]. [illegible] Campbell River $6,127,[illegible] Northern Construction and J. W. Stewart Ltd. $[illegible].

The tenders will be examined by the commission's [illegible] engineers before the contract [illegible].

[illegible]

But the commission hopes to be able to start storing water behind the Upper Campbell dam in November, 1956.

Water will be used to reinforce the supply for the six generators at the John Hart plant, which have a total generating capacity of 168,000 horsepower, and the generators at Ladore dam which is now in the early stages of construction. It is planned to install two and possibly three [illegible] horsepower generators at Ladore.

STORAGE NEEDED

Commission officials say more water storage is urgently needed on the Campbell river system to ward off a threatening power shortage during low water periods.

Commission officials are also giving consideration to [illegible] for clearing the shores of Upper Campbell and Buttle lakes in preparation for higher water levels on completion of the new dam. These plans will be submitted to provincial government officials for approval before work starts.

[illegible] The Upper Campbell dam is to take the place of the one originally planned by the commission at the river's outlet from Buttle lake which was the subject of considerable controversy and opposition from conservationists.

The new dam and powerhouse will not only increase the output of electricity from the Campbell river watershed but will also give the power house at Ladore falls and John Hart dams an [illegible] supply of water [illegible].

It is eventually planned to install two 42,000-horsepower generators in the powerhouse at Upper Campbell lake.

Danger Signs Urged

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended clearer intersection markings and warning signs on the Victoria-Goldstream new Island highway stretch, which has claimed four lives this year.

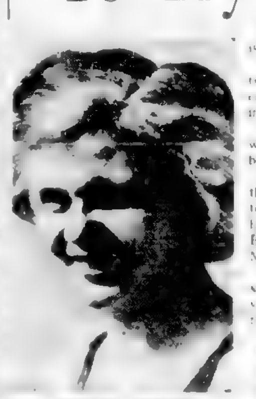

Mrs. Martha Ellen [illegible] Hesseger, a 63-year-old widow, died [illegible] Monday when she was struck by a car while [illegible].

Not Needed, Says Adjutant
Absence of Anthems Irks Sunset Ceremony Spectators

Some Victorians are up in arms because there was no "O Canada" or "God Save the Queen" at the sunset ceremony last night.

This was the only complaint about a stirring and smartly performed ceremonial by the 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, which recently moved into Gordon Head camp. The crowd was the biggest ever.

One person who telephoned a complaint to the Daily Colonist was 70-year-old E. W. Griffiths, [illegible] Fairfield. "I have been watching [illegible] ceremonies in Victoria [illegible] for 35 years and this is the first time I can remember that there was neither Canada nor the Queen."

Bert Collects —And So Do Youngsters

Strait conqueror Bert Thomas collects a wager today—and more than 200 children will share the loot.

The prize is 285 hamburgers.

While Bert was still training for his mammoth swim he made the bet with Ian Turner of the Jubilee Coffee shop, 2004 Richmond. Mr. Turner said no one would ever beat Juan de Fuca strait.

He knows better now but still has to pay up.

Thomas will give two hamburgers each to 28 youngsters at the B.C. Protestant Orphanage at noon today.

Four hours later he will take the remaining 229 hamburgers to [illegible] park where youngsters taking part in the playground closing ceremonies will be given a treat.

Inadequate Tools
Fired Teacher Was Frustrated

A [illegible] teacher's fight to regain the job from which he was dismissed in June by the Greater Victoria school board dragged through a second full day yesterday before a government board of reference.

The teacher, Geoffrey D'Arcy, who taught at Lansdowne Junior High school, was discharged for alleged "impertinence and gross insolence" in connection with letters he wrote to John Gough, senior municipal school inspector.

One thing he criticized in a letter to Mr. Gough was a notice advertising a vacancy for a supervisor of technical education and night schools, which he claimed was "rigged."

The former occupant of the post, John S. White, was on the witness box most of yesterday.

Mr. D'Arcy said he was trying to bring out how he had been "frustrated" regarding equipment and supplies, teaching methods, professional organization, teacher training and course records and what he called "clique control."

Mr. White admitted that the technical shop of the newly-opened Lansdowne school was not fully equipped in 1954 and the spring of 1955. But he said the same situation prevailed throughout the province in expanding school systems.

On the question of "clique control," Mr. D'Arcy spent considerable time inquiring about the advertisement for applications for the job Mr. White had vacated.

The notice called for summer-school teaching experience as one qualification, and Mr. D'Arcy asked:

"Did you note when the notice was framed that that qualification would eliminate every man in the district except three?"

Mr. White answered that the qualifications listed were only expressions of what the school board would like. If it couldn't get a man with all of them, he said, it probably would accept a man with some of them.

B.C. Gillie, a member of the three-man board of reference, asked Mr. D'Arcy if it were his opinion that the summer-school qualification was added to exclude some people and include some.

"That's the only impression I can get," Mr. D'Arcy said.

"It was not there to exclude people," said Mr. White.

Mr. Gough said he had explained to members of the technical teaching staff June 7 that the qualifications sought would not exclude them from applying for the job.

The hearing will resume Saturday morning.

'Ugly Distinction' Disclosed
Jettison Racial Intolerance, Canadians Urged by Writer

BY PETER BRUTON

Turkey, a country about which most Canadians are prejudiced and misinformed, is the West's vital link in the network of defence against [illegible], Victoria Rotary Club members were told yesterday.

Speaker was Canada's only Turkish-Canadian, Michael Dean of Vancouver, correspondent for the Istanbul newspaper Vatan.

"In Turkey, where Communism has met an insurmountable wall, we have an honest and true ally," declared Mr. Dean, a resident of B.C. for the past 26 years.

And yet, he said, the average Canadian pictured a Turk to be a wild-looking character of dark complexion garbed in strange clothes and equipped with a curved dagger.

He was supposed to ride a fast horse, [illegible] women and children, keep a harem of 50 beautiful girls, do nothing but eat and drink, and for added recreation either beat up a few of his wives or go off to war.

"True, there is such a character, but you will find him in Hollywood studios and not in Turkey," said Mr. Dean.

"Besides," he added with a grin, "I would never have left such a Utopia."

Contrary to common belief, Turkey was the first country to practice democracy and to create an understanding among the peoples of many nations regardless of race, creed or religion.

Canadian immigration regulations today discriminate against the Turkish people, he said. No Turk can enter this country.

"I said I am Canada's only Turkish-Canadian," he continued. "That distinction, which I must term as being most ugly, was wished on me by our government. Three years ago . . . I learned I was not acceptable to Canada [illegible]."

[illegible]

The deportation order gave this simple and most insulting reason—Asiatic race," said Mr. Dean. "Ever since that incident I have been wondering exactly what my status was during my army service in the Second World War."

The speaker said this was the kind of [illegible] which for years has [illegible] the [illegible] of hatred [illegible] the nations whose friendship [illegible] and help the West is seeking today.

"The bamboo curtain around China was not put there by the Chinese but by us alone," Mr. Dean maintained. "It is about time we awakened to the fact that in Asia we are fighting a war of hatred."

He called Canadians to "throw out the luxury" of racial superiority and to accept everyone as their fellow man.

"We are a Christian nation and it is our sacred belief that God created man in the image of himself. Well then, are we not discriminating against our God when we discriminate against our fellow man," concluded Mr. Dean.

Archbishop To Install New Dean

Rev. Brian Whitlow, 41-year-old native of England, will be instituted as rector and installed as dean of Christ Church by Archbishop H. E. Sexton in a ceremony at the cathedral at 8 p.m., September 15, the archbishop announced yesterday.

The new rector and dean, who will succeed Rt. Rev. P. R. Beattie, Bishop of the Kootenay, is an honors graduate of Oxford.

State of Maine Tourists Following Wrong Birds!

Publicity bureau chief George I. Warren surveyed the figures with a cheerful grin—then suddenly glowered.

"What's the state of Maine got against Victoria?" he asked.

Victoria, heading for a record tourist year, has been visited this year by cars from Great Britain, Okinawa, Bermuda, Panama, Mexico, Hawaii, Alaska, Guam and all 48 states of the U.S. with the exception of Maine.

But Mr. Warren hasn't given up hope yet. August is traditionally the best month for tourists and he still expects to see a licence plate from the New England state.

Despite poor weather the tourist figures for July showed a 1 per cent rise over the same month last year.

"We thought it would be a little bit down but the customs men checked in 15,160 cars here alone last month," Mr. Warren said proudly.

In the seven completed months this year 43,729 tourist cars carrying 132,161 passengers have entered Victoria and Sidney checking stations. During the same period last year 43,308 cars carrying 130,401 passengers arrived.

Most tourists come from California, Mr. Warren said.

"There have been 2,305 cars from California, 1,671 from Washington, and 1,040 from Oregon," he said. "And the total number of cars last month was more than the other six months put together."

But Mr. Warren is vexed about the absence of a tourist from Maine. So, licence plate spotters, be on the lookout.

Frozen Soups Latest in Foods

Biggest news in the food line this week came with the introduction of frozen soups to the Victoria market. Already the supply is dwindling but if you shop early enough there'll still be some left for you to sample this weekend.

Believe me, you're in for a taste treat, too.

When I first examined the tiny 10-ounce tins of frozen oyster stew, cream of shrimp and cream of potato and saw the price [illegible] the question that immediately came to mind was what are we getting for the additional cost. After trying a tin of the frozen cream of shrimp soup for dinner last evening, however, I can certainly tell you.

Instead of the usual tinned soup flavor you'll find that you're enjoying a rich, creamy dish that tastes as good as any home-made soup.

Why does the soup have to be frozen? Well, according to the sales representative, the ingredients are such that they must be quick-frozen to ensure long-time preservation of their original high quality. And he adds, any question about the cost can be explained by the definitely superior ingredients used in frozen soups.

Milk at Nine Cents a Quart

Another new time and penny saver is the miracle instant milk. When you mix the top quality pasteurized milk powder with water you'll have a beverage that you won't be able to tell from bottled milk. What's more, this improved variety needs no whipping or beating to obtain cream.

Drink it, cook and bake with it, use it in tea or coffee or on cereals. You'll find that the pound tin at 35 cents will make up to four quarts. Just think, that's less than nine cents a quart. A four pound tin yielding 16 quarts is also available at $1.35.

Designed for Large Families

Small packages of frozen foods were obviously not designed for large families but now some enterprising firm has put on the market five-pound cartons to solve the problem.

Delicious-looking garden fresh vegetables are available as well as sliced apples and strawberries. Mixed vegetables, peas, beans, carrots and [illegible] are $1.[illegible] a box, kernels of corn, $1.17, beets $[illegible], peas $1.19, apples $1.69 and strawberries, $1.89.

To Marry September 3

The engagement is announced of Barbara Jean, younger daughter of Mrs. Henry Law, 1030 Cook street, and the late Mr. Law, to Mr. David Henry Patersen, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paterson, 2196 Lafayette street. Rev. Douglas B. Carr will perform the marriage on Saturday, September 3, at 8 p.m. in First United church. Miss Law will have her sister, Mrs. W. C. Cooper, Montreal, as matron of honor, and her cousin, Mrs. Allan E. B. Jones as bridesmatron. Mr. James Trimble will be best man and Mr. Ralph Rodger and Mr. William Tuthill, ushers.—(Photo by Hudson's Bay)

En route home they visited relatives in Winnipeg, stopped in Calgary and made a short tour of the interior of B.C.

Anyone Can Experiment With Color Conditioning

By The Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP) — Home decorators have figured a new inexpensive hobby for do-it-yourself addicts called "color conditioning."

It consists of planning the color scheme of a home according to findings of color experts working for industrial [illegible].

The experts have recommended that stark white walls of a factory be painted restful green with a resulting decrease in the number of fatigue cases. He may change the color of an office from light blue to a warmer yellow to eliminate "cold" complaints.

Making color work for efficiency and comfort in schools and offices is a specialized field.

But the same rules can be applied in the home, adding personal touches in line with individual tastes. Start with a can of paint and a few basic facts about color and illusions it creates.

[illegible] and oppressive if the walls are dark or too bright. Pale blues or greens give a feeling of spaciousness and a ceiling the same color increases the roominess effect.

The principle can be applied in reverse. If you are rattling around in a big, high-ceilinged living-room, paint the walls in a bright, rosy shade and the ceiling in a deeper color. This gives the illusion of less height and a cosier atmosphere.

Apartment owners can make rooms appear larger by painting walls and woodwork the same color and by relating colors of different rooms so they seem to flow from one to the other.

Painting one wall a pale shade in a different color from the rest will add length to a room that is boxy.

HELPS IN KITCHEN

If the kitchen isn't on the brightest side of the house, a generous application of yellow paint will give it a sunny outlook.

But if the kitchen is bathed in sunlight all day long go easy on the yellow. Red should be used sparingly in the kitchen since it is a "hot" color and tends to emphasize the heat of cooking.

Color experts are paying more attention to refrigerators, stoves and other appliances. Traditional but overexposed white is gradually giving away to soft pastels, giving more scope to home decorators.

But the best thing about color conditioning is that it can be experimented with by anyone. All that is needed is a little planning.

Beauty and You

Summer's fun at the beach or [illegible] but your little girls or boys still manage to pick up as much grime as they ever did during school months at home! The daily bath continues to be important to their good grooming and it is also one of the most helpful aids to health and body comfort during warm weather.

Teaching youngsters the importance of a daily bath is easy for they like to play in water and during summer this needs little if any encouragement. To cool little bodies that run and play for hours and hours, the cool bath is a necessary refresher. More than one bath during extreme heat also is wise—or just to get support at the one good thorough bath with a number of sponge-offs.

When its time for an honest-to-goodness cleansing add a little fun to the procedure by letting your youngsters have a bubble bath. One fragranced with a delicate floral bouquet is designed for the little princess of the house. Also for youngsters are soaps and other toiletries such as dusting powder to promote her interest in feminine grooming. An early start will promote her beauty and insure good habits of personal care later.

Choose good castile base soaps for the small fry and make it a rule this summer than hands must be washed and [illegible]. This is not only for appearances at meals but an excellent safeguard against infectious germs that are carried to the mouth by hand.

All Pass

South had the ... would pass and hope the ... West on score, however, and threatening to make game with a mere two-heart ... it was necessary for South to act at once in order to tell his partner that he had enough stuff to ... South's jump response indicated that he was considerably better than a mere forced takeout, and since North had not previously passed, South had to find ... other bid. Ordinarily ... wouldn't show a four-card spade suit since he had already promised spade support ... but in this case three spades was the only bid he could find. North was delighted to carry on to game.

West led the two of hearts. East played the jack and South won. South realized that he couldn't afford to draw trumps before he had either ruffed a couple of losing hearts or knocked out the ace of diamonds. He elected to lead the diamond king at once. West dropped the eight and East ducked. South continued the diamonds. East won with the ace and gave partner a third round ruff. Back came the ...

5 CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends who have been so kind and sympathetic during our recent bereavement. Special thanks to Dr. Buffam and staff at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Masonic Order, Sands Mortuary and those who so kindly assisted as pallbearers. Mrs. N. P. Jobbins and family.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the doctors and nursing staff of the Veterans Hospital, Victoria, Columbia Lodge No. 1 A.F. & A.M. G.R.B.C., Lakeshore Lodge, [illegible] [illegible] Welsh Society, O.E.S. [illegible] Bay Chapter No. 42, our many friends and neighbors and also McCall Bros. for their kind assistance and beautiful floral tributes in our recent loss of a beloved husband and father. — Mrs. Nellie Gerrard and family.

6 IN MEMORIAM

FRY — In loving memory of a wonderful wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Fry, who passed away Aug. [illegible].

Deep in the heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because she was one of the best.
Ever remembered by [illegible] [illegible] husband, Charles, daughters and sons and grandchildren.

FEARMAN — In loving memory of George Fearman, who died Aug. [illegible], 1951.
The world may change from year to year
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one I loved
From memory pass away.
Ever remembered by his wife and family.

TV Talk

BY ROY PARRETT

Now is the time for all good TV fans to clean up their aerials. This is the advice of Frank Richardson of the Canadian General Electric Company here.

Frank cleaned up his own aerial over the week-end, with soap, water and steel wool, and was amazed at the results.

TV fans would be surprised at the great increase in signal, if they tried the rejuvenating process on their own antennas, Fred thinks.

* * *

LIGHTNING PROTECTION—Summer is also a good time for set owners to make sure that their television aerial is properly grounded. Regulations call for a proper ground wire to be connected between rooftop antennas and an adequate ground, such as a household water tap. During the last severe thunderstorm in Victoria, several television sets were struck by lightning, which necessitated extensive repairs to the sets. A proper grounding system on your TV antenna is the cheapest possible insurance against lightning damage.

"Sometimes I wish they'd go back to their old hobby of home movies."

* * *

MORE ABOUT INSURANCE—You should consult the roofer who installed the patent roof on your house before installing a television antenna, according to local roofing experts. It is possible that the installation of a television aerial may void the warranty on the roof unless the roofer is consulted. It is also a good idea for a householder who is renting premises to ask permission of the owner of the house before installing a television mast. Householders who install TV without the permission of the landlord may find that they may not be able to remove the antenna when the premises are vacated.

* * *

DOMESTIC DRAMA—Tonight "Windows" drama on Channel 11 at 7.30 is a story about an only child who runs away from home because of her drunken mother.

WAR MONGERS—Tonight's "T-Men in Action" drama is about an American who violates the Neutrality Act by supplying materials to Iron Curtain countries.

PRISON STORY—A prison warden has a mysterious past in "Feet of Clay," the Twilight Theatre presentation on CBUT at 9.

ALL AT SEA—A corrupt sea captain robs his passengers and strands them on a desert island in "Passage Home" on the Best of Mystery over KOMO-TV at 9.

LOVE STORY—Arthur Franz stars as the owner of a roadside diner who gives refuge and a job to a young girl and proceeds to fall in love with her on Channel 11 at 9.

PREMIER MOVIE—KOMO-TV feature at 10.30 features Robert Walker, Ava Gardner and Dick Haymes in "One Touch of Venus."

QUEER TRANSACTION—Bernie Braden and Barbara Kelly star in the hilarious comedy "Love in Pawn" on CBUT at 11.

EXTRAVAGANZA—"A Ghengis Khan" is the spectacular film on Channel 11 at 11 p.m. tonight. This picture was filmed in Hawaii with a cast numbering thousands, and is one of the outstanding films ever to be seen on television.

Greater Victoria Figures

Construction Rises $3,000,000 in July

Building figures in Greater Victoria continued to soar during July, increasing the 1955 seven-month totals to more than $3,000,000 over the 1954 figure.

Only in Victoria city was a "slump" shown in tabulations. However, the 1954 figure for July included the $1,126,000 B.C. Electric building which accounts for most of the disparity, but even without it, last July's building would have been ahead of this July's by more than $50,000.

Esquimalt's figures for the year have nearly doubled the 1954 total and both Oak Bay and Saanich have jumped by a third.

During July the total value of permits granted in Esquimalt was $82,750, and the total for the seven months was $625,560. In 1954, the July total was $28,850, and for the seven-month period $359,255.

Saanich July total is $682,990 and this year to date is $3,730,215, compared with a seven-month total of $2,643,225 in 1954.

Oak Bay reports a total of $442,838 during the past month, bringing the year's figure to $1,996,876. Last year a total of $1,397,443 was recorded for the same period with $170,970 of this total shown for July.

Despite the July slump in Victoria city, the total figure is still well ahead of last year's. The total was up from $5,046,198 last year to $5,996,208 this year. Last month permits for construction valued at $536,596 were issued compared with $1,715,289 in July, 1954.

Yacht Wins By Half Mile

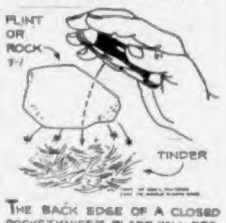

Fourth in Royal Victoria Yacht Club's Wednesday evening series of races for Lightning Class yachts was won Wednesday by Roy Murdock's Pukeko, which crossed the finish line with a lead of nearly half a mile.

Second was Spencer Davies Rania, with Fred Packford's Frolic (skippered by Denis Roberts) close behind.

In C class Ned Ashe's May D. also won by a substantial margin, with Jack Gann's Seatime second and Bud Trythall's Snooky third.

Alderman Believes Wyatt Can Remove Laburnums

City manager C. C. Wyatt has full power to order removal of city-owned laburnum trees, Ald. Robert Macmillan maintained last night.

Following reports in The Daily Colonist that several children have been poisoned by eating laburnum seeds, Ald. Macmillan planned to ask the city manager yesterday if it was necessary to wait until the next meeting of council in September to have the offending trees removed from parks and boulevards.

He said he was unable to see the city manager, but discovered that Mr. Wyatt had removal of trees within his jurisdiction.

"I agree with The Daily Colonist editorial saying that parents should warn their children against eating anything unfamiliar," Ald. Macmillan said, "but I still will press for removal of the city-owned trees."

Doctors say laburnum poisoning can be fatal.

City parks administrator W. H. Warren said yesterday that laburnum trees in parks and on boulevards already were limbed up to a height to which children couldn't reach the pea-like pods.

He also noted—as did Mr. Wyatt—that several other common seeds and plants are poisonous. The seeds of broom, gorse and lupin and the berries of the wild yew are poisonous, he said, and so are delphiniums, monkshood and foxgloves.

Father Joins Island Search For Lost Son

TOFINO, B.C. (CP)—A Vancouver man has flown to Tofino to help search for his son, missing with a companion since Saturday on board the fishing boat Maidie H.

The father of Ken Wilson, who with Ian Charles McLeod are the objects of a combined sea and air rescue search, joined the hunt Wednesday.

RCAF officials in Vancouver reported that they have called off the search but a lifeboat from Tofino will carry on for the remainder of the week.

So far no evidence of the missing boat has turned up.

Standard Brands Buys Ballard's

NEW YORK (CP) — Standard Brands (Canada) Limited has entered into an agreement to purchase all the capital stock of Dr. Ballard's Animal Foods Ltd., Toronto, it was announced Thursday.

Dr. Ballard's operates plants at Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver. W. R. Ballard, its president, will become vice-president and a director of Standard Brands Ltd., while remaining in charge of the Ballard's operations.

Chrysler Earns $8.04 a Share

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of Chrysler Corp. Thursday declared a dividend of 75 cents on the capital stock and reported first-half earnings of $70,010,642, equal to $8.04 a share.

The dividend is payable Sept. 13 to holders of record August 15. The company paid 75 cents in the last four quarters.

Contract Awarded For New BCE Dam

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $2,438,355 contract for construction of the Daisy Lake dam on the Cheakamus river has been awarded to Emil Anderson Construction Company.

Work on the dam, expected to employ 175 men, will get under way in 10 days and involves the building of a 500,000 cubic yard earth and rock dam, 7,000 feet long and 90 feet high about 23 miles north of Squamish.

Also to be built under the contract is a 3,000-foot diversion channel and tunnel intake.

Waters of the Cheakamus river will be backed up to combine with Daisy lake and the surrounding swamp land to create a storage basin covering 1,060 acres.

This is the second contract to be let in the $25,000,000 project.

Arbitration Date Unset

No date has been set yet, City Manager C. C. Wyatt said yesterday, for the arbitration hearings which will determine what each Greater Victoria municipality will pay toward a new $1,400,000 wing for Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Victoria and the three adjoining municipalities have agreed to let R. A. Robison, chartered accountant, decide what their share should be. Mr. Wyatt will represent the city at hearings.

Charged with Jewel Theft, Youth To Make Plea Today

A 17-year-old youth, Melvin Ellingson, 600 Ker, will make his plea in police court today to a charge of breaking, entering and theft March 28 at Rowbotham's jewelry store, 1615 Douglas.

The accused elected to be tried by Magistrate Henry C. Hall following his transfer from [illegible] was remanded one day to plead.

John William Gale, 18, 3029 Tillicum, has pleaded guilty to participating in the $1,000 break-in, and will be sentenced today.

Police said most of the loot has been recovered.

Gale and Terrance Ernest Merkel, 18, Townsend road, will be sentenced at Esquimalt court today for a breaking, entering and theft April 1 at Gorge Vale golf club.

They stole about $80 worth of liquor and cigarets.

* * *

Robert John Thompson, 440 Bay, was given a week to pay fines totalling $62.50 after he pleaded guilty to six charges.

The youth admitted overparking, illegal possession of liquor, lack of windshield wipers and of emergency brake, speeding, and failing to halt at a stop sign.

* * *

Two six-month sentences were given Maurice Marsden, Churchill hotel, who earlier pleaded guilty to resisting a private bailiff and obtaining $10 by means of a worthless cheque. The terms will run concurrently.

* * *

An intersection collision July 21 at Ryan and Scott resulted in Lawrence Oakland, 1735 Kings, being fined $35 for careless driving.

Assistant city building inspectors and Horace Taylor, 651 Alpha, differ as to the meaning of the word junk.

The inspectors charged Taylor under a by-law, claiming he had several old vehicles and equipment on his property at Alpha street and on an adjoining lot.

Taylor, who pleaded not guilty, claims he uses the vehicles and equipment for logging operations and that they are not "junk."

Magistrate Hall adjourned the case until today for judgment.

Russia Wants Return Visit

WASHINGTON (CP) — Vladimir Matskevich, acting Soviet minister of agriculture, said Thursday he would be "very glad" to see a Canadian farm delegation visit the Soviet Union.

Matskevich, who heads the Soviet farm group now touring the United States, said he and his 12-man delegation are looking forward with "great interest" to their visit to Canada later this month. Present plans call for the Russians to fly to Ottawa from New York August 25.

He told The Canadian Press in an interview at the Soviet embassy that he has advised the Canadian government, through the Russian embassy at Ottawa, that his delegation would like to visit Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. A swing through the Maritimes, he indicated, also was a possibility.

He said the Russian farmers are particularly anxious to observe large-scale wheat and corn harvesting in Canada.

VIGOROUS EMPHASIS

Matskevich spoke through an embassy interpreter. He nodded his closely shaven head vigorously to emphasize that he and his group want to see how Canadians conduct large-scale farming operations.

"Also," he said, "we would like to see milk cows and vegetable growing."

Matskevich said he has been wanting to visit Canada for a "long time" and he and the other Russians were awaiting the start of the Canadian tour with "great interest."

Second Go for Langford

Carnival Repeats Tomorrow

LANGFORD—Annual Langford carnival will be re-staged at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Langford Community Club grounds.

Poor weather last Saturday resulted in officials deciding to re-stage the event this week.

Trophies and prizes won in the horticultural and art sections and the rabbit show last week will be presented tomorrow.

The children's fancy dress parade will start at 2 p.m., followed by the children's sports and pet parade. A full slate of entertainment will be provided for the children.

"The carnival will conclude with a dance at the Community Club hall at 10 p.m.

Cuthbert Ends Ordeal

Commission Held In Contempt By Tabloid, Reporter—Tupper

Penalty To Be Fine Or Imprisonment

By DAVID ROWNTREE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Reginald H. Tupper said Thursday his royal commission into Vancouver's police force had been held in contempt by the Toronto tabloid Flash and its local reporter Ray Munro.

"Although it may not do me or my commission any particular good it is my responsibility to consider a fine or imprisonment."

Mr. Tupper said he did not want to consider the matter lightly.

"I cannot promise an early decision."

Mr. Tupper earlier refused a submission by T. G. Norris and G. S. Cummings, counsel for police chief Walter Mulligan, to make an order for commital against Munro, Louis Ruby of John Blunt Publications and editor Howard Somerville, alias Peter Dunsmuir.

Neil Fleischman, lawyer for Munro, said his client was prepared to accept any penalty and stand by his principles.

He said Munro resigned from Flash, effective next Monday, partly because of an editorial which appeared in the July 23 issue after the commission hearings had started. It was following the publication of this article that Mr. Norris last week made the contempt motion.

Mr. Fleischman said Munro had not written articles for Flash since the hearings began July 13.

G. L. Murray, appearing for Vancouver Magazine Service Ltd., distributors of Flash here, submitted Mr. Tupper had no jurisdiction to rule on contempt other than breaches committed in the courtroom. He said an alternative submission was that the Public Inquiries Act was ultra vires of the provincial legislature.

Mr. Cummings said Mr. Norris had "done nothing more than draw the contempt to your attention."

He said the commissioner had the powers of a Supreme Court judge and could take steps "on your own discretion."

Flinging down a July 23 issue of Flash, Mr. Cummings said it contained a by-lined story by Munro.

The commissioner, in refusing Mr. Norris's motion, upheld Mr. Fleischman's submission that no written notice had been served to the persons concerned, that it had not been proved they were involved and that no charges were stated.

Willis Chitty, Toronto lawyer for Flash, apologized by telegram and telephone to Mr. Tupper last week. Mr. Chitty promised that no other comment on the hearings would appear in the tabloid and Mr. Tupper said Thursday his word "is better than any fine."

Earlier Thursday, Det.-Sgt. Len Cuthbert ended six days of evidence and cross-examination and left the witness box with this warning from Mr. Tupper:

"I can't help feeling you do know and could tell me the names of men on your squad to whom you gave money. I want you to think it over, and if I am correct in my assumption, I hope you will communicate with your counsel."

Mr. Tupper told the 54-year-old officer who claimed he had shared bribes from bookmakers with Mulligan his refusal to give names of other officers to whom he gave money "causes me some concern."

During three days' cross-examination this week, Cuthbert said time and again he could not, "with any degree of certainty," name the officers on the gambling detail who shared the payoffs.

Earlier this week, Mr. Tupper told Cuthbert his oath required him to speak "the whole truth "or I can pay very little attention to what you tell me." Mr. Tupper said it was foolish or wrong to think it was loyal to other officers not to give their names.

Young Golfers Lead Large Field

Happy Marlene Stewart smiles after smashing par with a record 75 in the first day's play in the Canadian women's close tournament at Royal Colwood. The fine round gave her a four-stroke lead in a large field.

Happy also was Rae Milligan who came in with the second best score of 79, as nine days of outstanding women's golf opened here. For further pictures, stories, full results and draws, see the sports section, pages 8 and 9.

Rapid Economy Expansion Causing Inflation Fears

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian economy is expanding at such a pace that some federal officials now are becoming concerned over the possibility of another round of inflation gripping the country.

At the moment the situation is not considered serious. Federal authorities said Thursday that although Britain, the United States and a number of other countries have taken steps to curb inflationary trends, no similar action is being contemplated by Canada at the present time.

However, Canadian policy-makers are watching the situation closely. The economy has been expanding at an ever-increasing pace following its recovery from the 1954 recession.

The government generally has been following a policy of making it easier for Canadians to borrow money and buy goods on more generous credit terms. Interest rates have been reduced and taxes have been cut slightly.

Now the economy is expanding at a record pace. Bank loans are at or near a record high. Some scarcities in metals have developed and prices have increased. Indications now are the gross national product—value of all goods and services produced—will rise this year to a record of more than $25,000,000,000 compared with last year's $24,000,000,000.

Capital investment for 1955 has been forecast a peak $5,954,000,000. Exports have increased substantially.

All this activity places pressures on the supply of materials and labor. Many unions have made demands for higher wages, which may bring higher prices.

U.S. To Fight Robeson Tours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Robeson's efforts to force the state department to grant him a passport will be fought by the government, a state department spokesman disclosed Thursday night.

The passport of the baritone was lifted in 1950 on the ground that his travel abroad would be prejudicial to the interests of the United States.

The singer called at the department in mid-July to demand immediate issuance of a passport for a singing-acting tour of European, Middle Eastern and Far Eastern countries including Russia.

He made the demand in view of court decisions recently which have overturned previous state department refusals to issue passports to Americans who want to go abroad.

Robeson subsequently got permission to leave for a Canadian singing engagement but the department continued to bar him from travelling anywhere else in the world.

Licence Opposed

Questioning Cuthbert Wednesday, Mr. Norris produced a letter to show the chief constable opposed an application in 1949 to transfer a sporting club licence to the Dodson Hotel. Cuthbert earlier told how gambler Pete Wallace agreed to pay protection and run a bookmaking venture at the back of the proposed clubrooms.

Thursday, commission council J. G. A. Hutcheson asked why Cuthbert had opposed the application, on the chief's instructions, when it was considered by city council.

"It was opposed on principle."

"It would be the usual step to follow, then?" asked Mr. Hutcheson.

"Yes, I think it was general policy to oppose these applications so that the city council could look into them."

Cuthbert agreed he said it would "be dynamite" to grant the transfer because there were too many clubs operating in the area.

The officer said city council finally approved the application but it was later disapproved by the government Liquor Control Board in Victoria because the club would be too close to the hotel's licenced premises.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced yesterday the cost of the Vancouver police department inquiry—estimated at $15,000—will be paid by the provincial government.

Bonner said that under the public inquiries act, the government was responsible for all costs of a royal commissioner, his counsel, the commission secretary, court stenographers and other personnel.

Chalk River Atomic Pile

New Canadian Reactor To Be Finest in World

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new experimental atomic energy reactor at Chalk River, Ont., will be five times as powerful as the famed NRX atomic pile, it was disclosed Thursday.

The $40,000,000 reactor, known by the code name NRU, will have a power of 200,000 kilowatts when it goes into operation in June, 1956. NRX, built in 1947 and now shut down for repairs after its second most serious accident, develops 40,000 kilowatts.

The power at which NRU will operate was disclosed in a booklet published by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., crown company in charge of atomic research at Chalk River. The booklet, outlining atomic research in this country, was prepared for distribution at the international conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy in Geneva August 8-10.

It said the new reactor, essentially a research tool to probe the mysteries of the atom, will "be the finest nuclear engineering test facility in existence." It would enable scientists to perform tests, particularly in the field of electricity — producing atomic power plants, that cannot be duplicated by reactors in any other friendly country.

Trade Minister Howe told the Commons July 15 that Canada already has been called on to do many new-type experiments for the United Kingdom and the United States on the NRU reactor.

The 11,000,000 NRX reactor broke down July 25 when a special fuel rod contaminated the pile's supply of heavy water.

Government officials said the breakdown is not serious and is in no way comparable to a major accident in December, 1952.

Prominent Men Missing

Ten Aircraft Poised For Kitimat Search

Nine planes, a helicopter, and sea and ground parties will search the rugged mountain region between Kemano and Kitimat for the Pacific Western Airlines' Grumman Mallard amphibian which disappeared Wednesday with five men aboard.

Passengers on the craft were Col. Macgregor Macintosh, 58, formerly of Victoria but now of West Vancouver, industrial relations consultant and twice Conservative MLA for the Islands;

David Milton Owen, 42, deputy chairman of the Vancouver school board and partner in the law firm headed by Defence Minister Campney;

Albert Patrick Gorman, 43, assistant manager of the Saguenay-Kitimat Company.

RCAF search and rescue officials told the Colonist late last night they would have three amphibious Cansos and one Dakota leaving Vancouver at 6 a.m. today to join their pontoon-equipped Otter in a systematic square search of the area. PWA already has four aircraft and a helicopter combing the area from low altitudes.

Child Injured In Wharf Fall

Stuart Swan, 2½, fell 22 feet to the ground from the gangplank of the Princess Marguerite at the CPR wharf yesterday afternoon.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where early this morning his condition was said to be satisfactory.

The child is believed to have slipped through the rails of the gangplank while his mother, walking behind, turned to see if her husband was following.

His parents, Rev. and Mrs. Carl Swan, are from Ontario. They are holidaying here with Mrs. R. D. Simpson, 639 Hampshire.

Waves Won Says Shirley; Financial Reward Assured

TORONTO (CP)—"I just couldn't swim against those waves," 19-year-old Shirley Campbell of Toronto and Fergus said Thursday a few hours after her attempt to swim Lake Ontario ended in failure and heartbreak.

The end came in early-morning darkness less than two miles from the Toronto shoreline and 21 hours and 27 minutes after she had struck out from the mouth of the Niagara river in a surprise bid to beat Marilyn Bell's lake swim record of 20 hours and 56 minutes.

Shirley is assured of at least financial reward for her attempt. Toronto citizens and business men telephoned newspaper offices and radio stations Wednesday night offering gifts of money and merchandise for Shirley.

Offers included a television set, jewelry and accessories, a year's supply of milk, a dress, mattresses, a car radio, life-size portrait, sportswear outfit, mink collar and cuffs.

There will be more for the girl who has been swimming, and winning, since she was six and who kept her lake plunge a secret.

Sonny Tufts Sued As Thigh Pincher

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actor Sonny Tufts, twice accused in lawsuits by dancers of biting them on the thigh, was charged yesterday in a $10,000 damage suit with pinching a 22-year-old woman on the "upper thigh."

Mrs. Adriene Forman, 22, of North Hollywood, Calif., accused Tufts of beating her in a Studio City, Calif., restaurant July 27. Her attorneys said the actor sat down uninvited at her table and "began to annoy her."

Tufts brought his meal over to the table despite Mrs. Forman's protests, the attorneys said. One said the actor then "ran his hand up her leg and pinched her on the upper thigh."

The woman screamed, said the attorney, and ordered Tufts to go away.

Tufts finally left the table after Mrs. Forman's mother came to her aid, he said.

Last January 17, a superior judge approved a $600 out-of-court settlement paid by Tufts to Margarie Von, 19, a Long Beach dancer. She had sued for $26,000 damages on grounds that the actor bit her on the thigh on February 20, 1951, while aboard a yacht during filming of a picture.

It's King-Size!

B.C. Penguin Lays An Historic Egg

VANCOUVER (CP) — First King penguin egg to be laid in North America arrived Wednesday night at Stanley Park Zoo.

Zoo keeper Allan Best discovered the rare egg, which he believes is the third ever produced in captivity, as he made a final round of the zoo with the watchman at 10 p.m.

"A courtship had been going on for quite a while," said Mr. Best. "I had rubber mats put on the concrete floors of the penguins' shelter so that an egg would not break when laid."

Penguins do not make nests of any kind, said Mr. Best. And the male does most of the work during the 64 days of incubation.

The egg itself is about four inches long and is nearly round, reports the jubilant zookeeper. The penguins incubate it by placing it between their feet and lowering a fringe of feathers around it "like a candle-snuffer."

There are seven King penguins in Stanley park, each valued at $500.

"It's going to be a long 64 days," sighed Allan Best, who has been hoping for such an event for many years.

Princess in Guise of Ghostly Swan Guards Lover's Grave from Intruders

TOBERMORY, Scotland (Reuters)—A swan, which superstitious islanders insist is the ghost of a Spanish princess mourning for her lover, has set up watch over the latest efforts to raise a goldladen galleon lying buried in sand off the coast here.

For 400 years, since the galleon was sunk off the Scottish coast, the islanders say the princess, in one form or another, has appeared whenever attempts were made to salvage the vessel.

The ship, part of the defeated Spanish armada of 1588, was blown up after it put in here for provisions before trying to make its way back to Spain. Aboard the ship was the princess's lover, an English nobleman, and, say the natives, the princess is fretful lest salvagers disturb his resting place.

The huge white swan appeared on the scene after the current salvage expedition led by the Duke of Argyll brought up a cased timber from the ancient ship.

The swan, they say, appeared out of nowhere one evening, glided serenely over the bay and disappeared, no one knows where. It reappeared the following night and has turned up every night since.

Meanwhile, the Duke of Argyll and a team of salvage experts are searching for the sunken ship Duque di Florencia, which old records say carried "$30,000,000 in cash" and a crown Philip II of Spain intended to use if his plans for a coronation in Britain's Westminster Abbey were realized.

For several years the duke has made the search for the ship his expensive hobby. Now he is reported ready to keep his frogmen, power shovel, dredges and small ships at work until October.

Under a royal charter, he has full claim to the treasure, less one per cent for the crown. In the past two, of his ancestors were executed by the king after refusing to surrender their rights to the treasure. The present duke wants to find the galleon so that he can turn over what he finds to museums.

Until the reported find of the cased timber, all that the vessel has yielded has been a brass cannon forged by Italian craftsman Benevenuto Cellini, a silver salver and odds and ends.

Zoo keeper Allan Best discovered the rare egg, which he believes is the third ever produced in captivity, as he made a final round of the zoo with the watchman at 10 p.m.

"A courtship had been going on for quite a while," said Mr. Best. "I had rubber mats put on the concrete floors of the penguins' shelter so that an egg would not break when laid."

Penguins do not make nests of any kind, said Mr. Best. And the male does most of the work during the 64 days of incubation.

The egg itself is about four inches long and is nearly round, reports the jubilant zookeeper. The penguins incubate it by placing it between their feet and lowering a fringe of feathers around it "like a candle-snuffer."

There are seven King penguins in Stanley park, each valued at $500.

"It's going to be a long 64 days," sighed Allan Best, who has been hoping for such an event for many years.

Licence Opposed

Questioning Cuthbert Wednesday, Mr. Norris produced a letter to show the chief constable opposed an application in 1949 to transfer a sporting club licence to the Dodson Hotel. Cuthbert earlier told how gambler Pete Wallace agreed to pay protection and run a book-making venture at the back of the proposed clubrooms.

Thursday, commission council J. G. A. Hutcheson asked why Cuthbert had opposed the application, on the chief's instructions, when it was considered by city council.

"It was opposed on principle."

"It would be the usual step to follow, then?" asked Mr. Hutcheson.

"Yes, I think it was general policy to oppose these applications so that the city council could look into them."

Cuthbert agreed he said it would "be dynamite" to grant the transfer because there were too many clubs operating in the area.

The officer said city council finally approved the application but it was later disapproved by the government Liquor Control Board in Victoria because the club would be too close to the hotel's licenced premises.

Chalk River Atomic Pile

New Canadian Reactor To Be Finest in World

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new experimental atomic energy reactor at Chalk River, Ont., will be five times as powerful as the famed NRX atomic pile, it was disclosed Thursday.

The $40,000,000 reactor, known by the code name NRU, will have a power of 200,000 kilowatts when it goes into operation in June, 1956. NRX, built in 1947 and now shut down for repairs after its second most serious accident, develops 40,000 kilowatts.

The power at which NRU will operate was disclosed in a booklet published by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., crown company in charge of atomic research at Chalk River. The booklet, outlining atomic research in this country, was prepared for distribution at the international conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy in Geneva August 8-20.

It said the new reactor, essentially a research tool to probe the mysteries of the atom, will "be the finest nuclear engineering test facility in existence." It would enable scientists to perform tests particularly in the field of electricity — producing atomic power plants, that cannot be duplicated by reactors in any other friendly country.

Trade Minister Howe told the Commons July 15 that Canada already has been called on to do many new-type experiments for the United Kingdom, and the United States on the NRU reactor.

The 11,000,000 NRX reactor broke down July 25 when a special fuel rod contaminated the pile's supply of heavy water.

Government officials said the breakdown is not serious and is in no way comparable to a major accident in December, 1952.

Sonny Tufts Sued As Thigh Pincher

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actor Sonny Tufts, twice accused in lawsuits by dancers of biting them on the thigh, was charged yesterday in a $10,000 damage suit with pinching a 22-year-old woman on the "upper thigh."

Mrs. Adriene Forman, 22, of North Hollywood, Calif., accused Tufts of beating her in a Studio City, Calif., restaurant July 27. Her attorneys said the actor sat down uninvited at her table and "began to annoy her."

Tufts brought his meal over to the table despite Mrs. Forman's protests, the attorneys said. One said the actor then "ran his hand up her leg and pinched her on the upper thigh."

The woman screamed, said the attorney, and ordered Tufts to go away.

Tufts finally left the table after Mrs. Forman's mother came to her aid, he said.

Last January 17, a superior judge approved a $600 out-of-court settlement paid by Tufts to Margarie Von, 19, a Long Beach dancer. She had sued for $26,000 damages on grounds that the actor bit her on the thigh on February 20, 1951, while aboard a yacht during filming of a picture.

Child Injured In Wharf Fall

Stuart Swan, 2½, fell 22 feet to the ground from the gangplank of the Princess Marguerite at the CPR wharf yesterday afternoon.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital where early this morning his condition was said to be satisfactory.

The child is believed to have slipped through the rails of the gangplank while his mother, walking behind, turned to see if her husband was following.

His parents, Rev. and Mrs. Carl Swan, are from Ontario. They are holidaying here with Mrs. R. D. Simpson, 639 Hampshire.

Princess in Guise of Ghostly Swan Guards Lover's Grave from Intruders

TOBERMORY, Scotland (Reuters)—A swan, which superstitious islanders insist is the ghost of a Spanish princess mourning for her lover, has set up watch over the latest efforts to raise a goldladen galleon lying buried in sand off the coast here.

For 400 years, since the galleon was sunk off the Scottish coast, the islanders say the princess, in one form or another, has appeared whenever attempts were made to salvage the vessel.

The ship, part of the defeated Spanish armada of 1588, was blown up after it put in here for provisions before trying to make its way back to Spain. Aboard the ship was the princess's lover, an English nobleman, and, say the natives, the princess is fretful lest salvagers disturb his resting place.

The huge white swan appeared on the scene after the current salvage expedition led by the Duke of Argyll brought up a cased timber from the ancient ship.

The swan, they say, appeared out of nowhere one evening, glided serenely over the bay and disappeared, no one knows where. It reappeared the following night and has turned up every night since.

Meanwhile, the Duke of Argyll and a team of salvage experts are searching for the sunken ship Duque di Florencia, which old records say carried "$30,000,000 in cash" and a crown Philip II of Spain intended to use if his plans for a coronation in Britain's Westminster Abbey were realized.

For several years the duke has made the search for the ship his expensive hobby. Now he is reported ready to keep his frogmen, power shovel, dredges and small ships at work until October.

Under a royal charter, he has full claim to the treasure, less one per cent for the crown. In the past two of his ancestors were executed by the king after refusing to surrender their rights to the treasure. The present duke wants to find the galleon so that he can turn over what he finds to museums.

Until the reported find of the cased timber, all that the vessel has yielded has been a brass cannon forged by Italian craftsman Benevenuto Cellini, a silver salver and odds and ends.
